All Comments:

Catherine Barrett, Self: This bill will engage in quiet reflection and moral reasoning for at least 1 minute and mindfulness is a best practice for social-emotional well being of our youth.; Mary Darling, Self: Free Speech is free speech.; Luke Douglas, Self: Children should not be coerced into pledging allegiance to the flag, much less to one nation "under God" without regard to their personal beliefs. Allowing an opt-out is not enough to protect impressionable children who may fear bullying.; Daniel Riordan, Self: This is settled law, leave it alone.; Marcia Tingley, Self: This flies in the face of a U.S. Supreme Court decision in 1943 that public school students may not be compelled to recite the pledge; it is up to the student, not the parent. This is a First Amendment right.; Ed Casper, Self: "When a Religion... cannot support itself, and God does not take care to support, so that its Professors are oblig'd to call for the help of the Civil Power, 'tis a Sign, I apprehend, of its being a bad one." - Benjamin Franklin; kathleen mayer, Self: this is unconstitutional - your efforts should be put into securing more funding for schools, not mandating forced patriotism and your particular brand of "morality"; Chris Kotterman, AZ SCHOOL BOARDS ASSOCIATION: Courts have held that students themselves do have speech rights at school, and this bill will almost certainly lead to lawsuits.; Rivko Knox, Self: Probably unconstitutional & open to costly law suits if passed. Please focus on public business, e.g., how to improve AZ's school, infrastructure, environment vs. forcing 'moral reasoning'; Judith Simons, Self: Coercive & probably not effective for accomplishing ... what exactly are schools supposed to accomplish with this bill?; Alicia Klassen, Self: Unnecessary. This is already in place in classrooms across Arizona.; Ken Ahlberg, Self: No at all helpful nor considerate!; Judith Ahlberg, Self: Not good for children nor school teachers.; Karen Syversen, Self: The Supreme Court of the US has ruled against this!; Wes Oswald, Self: Forcing kids to recite the Pledge of Allegiance is just about the least patriotic thing I can imagine.; Dianne Post, Self: Unconstitutional. Christian Nationalism that would impose their one belief on all the rest of us. Inviting costly law suit that you will lose.; Susan Bickel, Self: unconstitutional; Elizabeth Putnam-Hidalgo, Self: Separation of church and state, and stop dictating what students say and do. The Supreme Court has decided this issue.; Carol Maas, Self: I am against this bill. I am fine with saying the pledge but quiet reflection and "moral reasoning" belongs in the home or church, not in school. They are there for an education and not indoctrination. Get to work on issues that need attention.; Margaret Baca, Self: How about reading a portion of the Constitution? This is what lacks in America today, knowledge of our Constitution.; Bryna Koch, Self: Oppose this bill. This bill is likely unconstitutional and at minimum would be challenged. The student right to decline to participate in the Pledge has been largely protected.; Helen Kim, Self: Instead of being a country that has to force its kids to say a pledge to it, why not work on being a country that better listens and supports them to where they'll actually want to do it? Forced allegiance is authoritarian and unAmerican.; Gail Kamaras, Self: SCOTUS already ruled this unconstitutional; Denise van Zijll, Self: 1st A violation. Stop!; Barbara Oliver, Self: The Supreme Court has already ruled on this! THE BILL IS UNCONSTITUTIONAL!; Susan Morris, Self: Gotta love this support of performative patriotism. So shallow.; Christa Sadler, Self: The US Supreme Court determined in 1943 that public school students may not be compelled to recite the pledge, as the 1st Amendment protects a student's right to not engage in certain speech. This is unconstitutional; Ellen Dean, Self: This is a SECULAR state. We do not need to coerce students to pledge or reflect; Brenda Nelson, Self: The Supreme Court ruled against requiring the Pledge. STOP trying to inflict your religious & moral views on the rest of us. OPPOSE!!!; Jackie Rich, Self: unnecessary additional interference in private lives and contrary to Supreme Court decision.; Sarah Fanning, Self: LD17, 85248; Stacy Augustine, Self: Fake patriotism, as well as a transparent attempt to force religion. Repugnant conflation of patriotism and religion. Unconstitutional, as the right to decline belongs to the student. Religion needs to be private and kept out of schools.; Peter Coston, Self: I am a public school educator. I am for having the pledge of allegiance and teaching reflection and ethics, but not mandating participation. What will be the consequence for a student not participating?; Lawrence Peters, Self: What happened to first amendment right support? In 1943 US Supreme Court ruled students cannot be compelled to recite. What are parameters of "quiet reflection?" WASTE OF PRECIOUS LAWMAKER TIME. WHERE IS THE ATTENTION TO COVID & NEED TO GET VACCINE?; Elisabeth Haskell, Self: In 1943, the US Supreme Court ruled that public school students' constitutional right to free speech protects them from being compelled to recite the pledge. HB2060 would commit our state to wasting resources in re-litigating this settled case.; Linda Edwards, Self: Work on funding local public education and paying qualified teachers instead.; Kathy Fraser, Self: This automatically exposes children who don't want to say the pledge, for what ever reason to harassment from other students and teachers. For a political party that screams about personal freedom your attempts to take away freedom is hypocrisy.; Carole Flores, Self: The First Amendment protects a student's right not to engage in certain speech. Note: it's up to the student, not the parent.; Kimberlee McClure, Self: This bill violates the 1943 Supreme Court ruling, which allows students to exercise their right to engage, or not, in speech.; Elizabeth McClure, Self: Compelling recitation of any pledge smacks of authoritarianism. And requiring a specific "quiet reflection" time for reasoning is basically code for inserting religion into public schools. NO! Constitutional violations all around.; Wendy Norton, Self: Sounds familiar...Oh yes, The U.S. Supreme Court has already ruled on this. Unconstitutional. Violates first amendment rights.; Kathleen Kanouse, Self: where is our 1st amendment right in this?; Helen Jones, Self: This is unconstitutional.; Cheryl Colan, Self: Unconstitutional. Our First Amendment protects a student's right to not engage in certain speech.; Andrew Flach, Self: Not a fan of forced speech; Ryan Anderson, Self: The pledge is a creepy relic of the cold war, and the supreme court already ruled that the first amendment protects the right not to recite it.; Susan Anderson, Self: A FORCED recitation of the Pledge of Allegiance is a terrible idea. What's it supposed to prove other than social and peer pressure works?; Debra Cabell, Self: While I am a big fan of the pledge, this violates supreme court rulings and is likely to pitch our state in an expensive legal battle.; Carol Poole, Self: Supreme Court says no. Also, what do parents have to do with whether a student says those words each day? Just do the pledge and let students recite it or not.; Stephanie Hammond, Self: People should have the choice to recite the pledge or not. Religious freedom dictates that. There is already a moment of silence implemented after the pledge. This is not necessary and government overreach.; Gary Evans, Self: Against the First amendment; Lynne Brasher, Self: wasn't this decided in 1943 by the supreme court? Stop trying to mandate civics and fund teaching it instead; Penny Boone, Self: SCOTUS determined in 1943 that public school students may not be compelled to recite the pledge as the First Amendment protects a student's right not to engage in certain speech. This is student choice, not parental choice. I oppose.; William Kelly, Self: Dumb solution in search of a problem.; Anne Leota Hart, Self: Another terrible bill that does nothing to help us in this pandemic time. Young students will be required to recite the Pledge of Allegiance in opposition to the 1943 ruling by SCOTUS saying public school students may not be required to recite this.; Theresa Ratti, Self: As stated by the supreme court a student may not be forced to say the Pledge of Allegiance. And there is already a moment of silence observed in our public schools.; Jeffrey Fortney, Self: Find something IMPORTANT to do!; Marilyn Childs, Self: This violates a Supreme Court ruling that students may not be compelled to recite the Pledge. I hate to say it, but the majority of people probably do not even think about what the Pledge means, including our lawmakers.; Greer Warren, Self: re Pledge: Asked and answered in 1943. West Virginia Board of Education v Barnette.; Caroline Tompkins, Self: infringes on rights already granted by US Supreme Court; Carol Kennedy, Self: This bill would take away the student's right to decide what words to say. This is a First Amendment right.; Diane Leischow, Self: Moral reasoning happens in our home; Kathleen Dubbs, Self: This totally unconstitutional; Sue Thorne, Self: In 1943 the Supreme Court ruled that a student may not be compelled to recite The Pledge of Allegiance. This decision is up to the student not the parents. This bill sounds a lot like Evangelism. Repubs! Model Equality "A rising tide lifts all ships!"; Rich Feely, Self: Perhaps the legislature should take a minute per session on "quiet reflection" prior to mandating that to others. Actually, given many of the bills being introduced this session, ANY legislator reflection would benefit AZ.; Mary-Jeanne Fincher, Self: This bill would infringe on the student's constitutional rights.; Kathy Strawn, Self: Illegal requirements as it has already been established that Free speech clause protects students from forced salute to the flag or to say the pledge. WV State Board ED vs. Barnette; William S. James, Self: Clearly unconstitutional. Will be another waste of state money to defend; Jo Ann Caruthers, Self: Supreme Court already spoke on this. It's up to the student, not the parent.; Rebecca Haynes, Self: This is unconstitutional. This should be up to the student, not the parents or teachers.; Mary Nelson, Self: Unconstitutional; Wendy Anderson, Self: The Supreme Court ruled in 1943 that students can't be compelled to recite the pledge. Let's teach Civics instead.; Irwin Sheer, Self: This is unconstitutional. The US Supreme Court ruled in 1943 that the first amendment protects a student's right not to engage in certain speech.; John Neville, Self: Unconstitutional attack on the 1st Amendment.; Margaret Nichols, Self: It is the student's decision.; Jessica Kitterman, Self: The US Supreme Court determined in 1943 that public school students may not be compelled to recite the pledge, as the First Amendment protects a student's right not to engage in certain speech. Note: it's up to the student, not the parent. Oppose; Eileen Hollowell, Self: Unconstitutional and will waste my tax dollars on law suits the state will lose.; Crystal Bazarnic, Self: What happened to freedom? Our country was built on it. This is overreaching. Please vote no.; Mary Clark, Self: We already have this. I taught school in AZ for over 35 years and we always said the pledge and had a moment of silence. Why do Republicans write so many laws?; Candice Fremouw, Self: a mandate with parent prerogative will only cause more division than unity A moment for moral reflection? This takes place every class period during "bell work" It doesn't need mandated; Abby Brill, Self: By federal law, a student may not be forced to recite the pledge. It's up to the student; not the parent or teacher. Vote NO!; Margaret Owen, Self: Ever since 1943, "students may not be compelled to recite the pledge". This is a 1st Amendment right. It is up to the student, not the parent. Further, I do not want my grandkids forced to "engage in quiet reflection & moral reasoning" at school.; Kathryn Anderson, Self: School staff and administration should determine what is best for their schools, not be dictated by the legislature.; Mary Benin, Self: The US Supreme Court has already ruled that students do not have to recite the Pledge of Allegiance. This bill will not stand, but will waste tax payer money. Vote no.; Leslie Hunten, Self: Protect students' right to free speech!; Elizabeth Brauer, Self: Unconstitutional waste of time.; Margaret Bruns, Self: What a stupid ideal; Robert Fisher, Self: What an idiot I; Mary Gaudio, Self: Unconstitutional. Period.; Don Howard, Self: Why in the world are you wasting time with this and what the US Supreme Court has already ruled on? It is a waste of time! We have very real needs in Arizona.; Julia Wills, Self: This bill is against the First Amendment of the US Constitution.; Roy Verdery, Self: Students, not parents, teachers or The State, should decide what and when they should speak and think.; Carol Garnett, Self: The pledge means nothing if students don't have the freedom to not engage.; Jennifer Dawson, Self: Violation of the 1st amendment, acc'ding to the SCOTUS. And "quiet reflection and moral reasoning" sounds like it's bordering on forced prayer/religion.; Sandra Rizzo, Self: Supreme Court already determined students may themselves choose to participate or not - don't need parental approval. Another attempt at "patriotism" by control.; David Williams, Self: Utter nonsense.; Diane Nevill, Self: Note that the US Supreme Court ruled in 1943 that public school children may not be compelled to recite the pledge. That law has been on the books for almost 80 years. And is the other part of this bill implying a prayer time for grades 4-12?; Amy Gaiennie, Self: How about requiring the teaching of basic civics to these young students rather than requiring them to say the pledge. Saying the pledge means nothing if they don't understand their responsibilities as citizens.; Jean Meconi, Self: This bill is directly in violation of the 1st Amendment and would be challenged and overturned in the courts. Waste of taxpayers' money.; Diane McQueen, Self: btw: I am a registered Arizona voter who lives in AZ and am not a bot.; Erin McCamish, Self: I thought you liked free speech? No? Student speech is up to the student, not their parent. Also, reflection is nice and all, but you know it's secretly prayer time. Don't pretend.; Kathleen Bower, Self: We all can pray or privately reflect anytime we choose. Get out of the prayer pushing racket. we are free to choose religion or no religion. Our country was founded on that freedom.; Mary Keerins, Self: The Supreme Court decided this in 1943. Allow students freedom of speech; Maureen Mandel, Self: The US Supreme Court determined in 1943 that public school students may not be compelled to recite the pledge. Rep. Fillmore needs a lot of time to reflect on reasoning and morality as he is lacking in both these attributes.; Cynthia Wagner, Self: US Supreme Court already determined in 1943 THAT public school students MAY NOT be compelled to recite the pledge - First Amendment right.; Frank J. Cota, Self: HB206 takes our Freedom away.; Laura Terech, Self: This goes against a 1943 Supreme Court decision. Students should not be required to say the pledge. The decision is theirs, not a parent's.; Jisoo Kim, Self: The US Supreme Court determined in 1943 that public school students may not be compelled to recite the pledge. So what exactly is your plan here...?; Andrew Steffek, Self: The Pledge of Allegiance should always be done. Why would you allow a parent to request their child to be exempt. The PoA has real and historical meaning to the foundation of USA. All students should be in the process of reciting the PoA.; Deborah Howard, Self: Hmmm. What to make of proposed legislation that challenges a 1943 SCOTUS decision? Is it slop for lazy thinking self-identified "patriots"? No matter, it should be defeated. Resoundingly. Please vote no.; Brian Whitman, Self: The US Supreme Court determined in 1943 that public school students may not be compelled to recite the pledge, as the First Amendment protects a student's right not to engage in certain speech. Note: it's up to the student, not the parent; Kathleen Corley, Self: The Supreme Court has already ruled on this issue. The House member should work on providing schools with the funding they need rather than wasting time on promoting dead-end ideological bills.; Jacqueline Bauer, Self: Gross overreach and blatant violation of freedom of speech; Kerrie Green, Self: This was already decided by the US Supreme Court. 1st Amendment rights are protected here.; Jane Atkins, Self: This is an utter waste of time to make a political statement by John Fillmore.; Kelsey Wilkes, Self: 1st amendment protects the right to NOT be forced to speak; James Behra, Self: This bill is straight out of the Soviet Union! A significant component of Free Speech is the freedom from being required to say something by government mandate. That this bill even exists, worries me that AZ legislators want to abolish democracy!; Peggy Kile, Self: Let's just close all public schools and send everyone to religious schools.; Peggy McMahon, Self: AGAINST. Unconstitutional violation of freedom of speech.; Jasmine Chan, Self: This is unnecessary and dictatorial.; John Gleason, Self: stop trying to micro-manage schools, that's why we have school boards; Patricia Van Tuyl, Self: Supreme Court rules against this.; Heather Leigh Wallace, Self: I am a Conservative who is saying NO to this Republican's Bill.; Jennifer Turrell, Self: I'm not sure why we are wasting the legislature's time with this. In 1943 The US Supreme Court determined that public schools may not compel students to recite the pledge as the 1st Amendment protects student's rights not to engage in certain speech.; Mavis Brauer, Self: Why are you trying to control what happens goes in the classroom? We need to give everyone, including students, a right to make their own choices.; Kelly Poe Wilson, Self: The Supreme Court settled this issue in 1943.; Kristin Fray, Self: Schools are already offering the pledge of allegiance. Students have first amendment rights and can choose to participate or not. There is not need to pass further legislation; Marjorie Shavlik, Self: Unconstitutional.; Jan Perozeni Corbus, Self: We are not compelled to recite the pledge; it is a student's right to stand quietly.; Stephanie Bader, Self: Why waste your time passing something that has already been prohibited by the US Supreme Court?; Dan Schwartzstein, Self: A first amendment violation as legislation? This should be an easy rejection.; Russell Tucker, Self: I grew up saying the pledge is school. I support saying it, but I also support those who do not want to say it. It should not be required.; Marilyn Murov, Self: The US Supreme Court determined in 1943 that public school students may not be compelled to recite the pledge, as the First Amendment protects a student's right not to engage in certain speech.; Cheryl Purvis, Self: This is an unconstitutional attack on freedom of speech, a basic American right.; Kim Hoover, Self: This bill violates the US Supreme court ruling on this issue.; Julian Donahue, Self: It is unlawful to compel students to recite the Pledge of Allegiance!; Aimee Tucker, Self: stop waste time on these and look at truly educating; Paula Schlusberg, Self: anti-first amendment right not to engage in speech; also offensive to require "moral reasoning"; Elizabeth Studstill, Self: The US Supreme Court determined in 1943 that public school students may not be compelled to recite the pledge, as the First Amendment protects a student's right not to engage in certain speech. It's up to the student, not the parent.; RITA DEPUYDT, Self: The US Supreme Court determined in 1943 that public school students may not be compelled to recite the pledge.; Karen Falkenstrom, Self: Forcing children to say the pledge is silly and in no way will increase patriotic sentiment. What's more, with the addition of the "under God" line in 1954, forcing a child to say these words violates their freedom of religion.; Lisa Maczura, Self: See First Amendment please.; Jeanne Devine, Self: Children should learn civics and history to become participating members of our democracy. It is not important that they learn rote obedience.; Bridget Bellavigna, Self: The US Supreme Court determined in 1943 that public school students may not be compelled to recite the pledge, as the First Amendment protects a student's right not to engage in certain speech.; Laurie Nerat, Self: This bill is unconstitutional! The US Supreme Court determined that public school students may not be compelled to recite the pledge. This bill will end up in court costing AZ taxpayers extensive legal fees, and it will be overturned.; Vanessa Goldberg, Self: The Supreme Court has already decided the opposite.

Robyn Stallworth Pouquette, Self: Robyn Stallworth Pouquette, Yuma County Recorder; Shannon Sharma, Self: There needs to be accountability to those registering voters. It will help identify if any fraudulent activity is conducted by anyone registering voters in larger quantities.; Carol Ayotte, Self: For folks collecting voter registrations, they should be required to identify the organization and the actual person collecting the information to ensure nefarious activities are not occurring; Mary Darling, Self: As one of the Target audiences, it is already difficult enough to obtain forms. What problem does this solve?; Marcia Tingley, Self: This is another attempt to try to slow down or disqualify voter registrations. We should be trying to make it easier to vote, not harder. The U.S. has one of the lowest percentages of voting by eligible voters of any country in the world.; kathleen mayer, Self: a not too subtle way to discourage citizens to register their fellow citizens - totally unnecessary conspiracy-driven bill; Rivko Knox, Self: Another way to limit voting rights! Stop; Barbara Oliver, Self: This bill is punitive and unnecessary! AZ needs to register everyone qualified to vote!; Cynthia Correll, Self: This is unnecessary and threatening for no purpose; Susan Morris, Self: Any attempt to make voting registration and voting itself more difficult is strongly suspect, especially coming from elected officials. Have you heard of democracy, Rep. Dunn?; Susan Penner, Self: First, why? What does it accomplish? voting.; Jackie Rich, Self: Unnecessary government obstacle to voter registration.; Sarah Fanning, Self: LD17, 85248; Karen Randolph, Self: An effort to suppress voting!; Stacy Augustine, Self: Yet another attempt to keep people from voting. Disgusting.; Peter Coston, Self: Stop this attempt at more voter suppression. Is there any evidence that the practice of helping groups of citizens register to vote has led to widespread voter fraud?; Lawrence Peters, Self: DESPICABLE 2nd TRY TO IMPEDE VOTER REGISTRATION ACCESS. Unnecessary requirement. TD reelected with 24,447 vote jump over 2018; a 52% increase. Fellow reelected R's also had major vote increases so THEIR RESULTS SHOW NO FRAUD. END ASSAULT ON RIGHTS.; Elisabeth Haskell, Self: Aside from being unnecessary & punitive on those trying to increase voter registration in their communities, requiring unique identifiers on registration forms will invalidate many registrations & decrease voter participation. Is that the goal?; Marlene Verdery, Self: VOTER SUPPRESSION! Current rules work. County Recorders have ability to verify eligibility. This is an attempt to limit voter registration.; Lynn Ashby, Self: Will cause issues for citizens who register people casually such as at high schools or at neighborhood events. It is unnecessary and punitive as it will make the registration invalid if someone forgets to include the identifier. Voter suppression!!; Linda Edwards, Self: Too much regulation.; Carole Flores, Self: Added burden offers no benefit while risking invalidation of registrations...an attempt to disenfranchise voters when we should be engaging them; Elizabeth McClure, Self: Do not "reconsider" this proposal. We have already said NO on this before....; Kathleen Kanouse, Self: I like to see more laws that encourage voter registration not restrict it.; Cheryl Colan, Self: Unnecessary and entirely punitive to voter registration groups who are doing a service to democracy and to AZ citizens. I oppose this legislation.; Andrew Flach, Self: Not a fan of creating obstacles to registering voters; Ryan Anderson, Self: In a democracy, we want to make it easier for people to register to vote, not harder.; Susan Anderson, Self: Looks like a voter suppression tactic to me. The registration forms will be scrutinized by county recorders to verify the registrant's identity. The person passing out the form is really of no consequence.; Jennifer Jones, Self: We need to make it easier, not harder for Arizonans to register and vote, not more difficult.; Carol Poole, Self: No. Why would you want to spend time on that? What problem are you trying to solve?; Gary Evans, Self: More voter suppression.; Lynda Dean, Self: Make voter registration easier not harder.; Lynne Brasher, Self: Reminder - it is not a BAD thing to encourage more voting. Why would you make it harder to register voters?; Donna Walkuski, Self: We don't need more red tape, we need more good arguments. Will hurt all parties.; Caroline Tompkins, Self: Bill is anti-voter and an attempt to limit new registrations.; Carol Kennedy, Self: This bill should FAIL again! Getting people registered to vote is an important part of our democracy. This bill makes it harder for voter registration events.; Kathleen Dubbs, Self: more voter suppression!; Jana Segal, Self: It will make the registration invalid if someone forgets to include the identifier. This may cause issues for those who register people more casually such as at high schools and in their neighborhood.; Sue Thorne, Self: This is another voter suppression tactic put forth by the party in power to discourage voter registration in AZ. My, how willing Repubs have become to discourage Democracy & encourage the rule of the Minority with dark money & what laws they can pass; Kathleen Martin, Self: Punitive. Wrong.; Mary-Jeanne Fincher, Self: This bill is unnecessary and an obvious attempt to make voter registration activity harder and more perilous.; Lynnda Evans, Self: Voter suppression; Jo Ann Caruthers, Self: More voter suppression. Would result in nullifying perfectly valid registrations due to a technicality. Believe it or not, would hurt both parties.; Daniel Stormont, Self: This is a solution in search of a problem. The only possible outcome would be to make it harder for the citizens of Arizona to participate in elections. Hmm...perhaps that's the objective?; Candace

Wilkinson, Self: Let's make it EASIER NOT HARDER for citizens to register to vote!; Bruce Sheffer, Self: Please vote NO!; Rebecca Haynes, Self: This is unnecessary and punitive and another attempt to hamper voter registration.; Mary Nelson, Self: Why are you so afraid of voters?; Wendy Anderson, Self: Stop trying to suppress voter registration and voting. We have procedures in place to provide for secure voting. No fraud has been shown. Let the current system stand.; Candice Fremouw, Self: another attempt to invalidate a registered voter on a technicality; Abby Brill, Self: This is yet another bill making it harder for people to vote. Voter registration should be encouraged, easy and everywhere. Vote NO!; Margaret Owen, Self: Mr. Dunn -this seems very punitive. And, why? Folks who enjoy participating in the democratic process would find this cumbersome. Why not encourage people to become participants in AZ's voting process? We need engaged citizens for a robust democracy.; Lynn Hoffman, Self: It is burdensome to have to apply for and carry your ID information with you to all events for registering voters. Will there be some liability if an invalid registration is completed under one's ID?; Mary Benin, Self: Unnecessary and will hurt schools, churches and others who do voter registration drives.; Leslie Hunten, Self: Another attempt to suppress voters. Are you afraid to hear the voice of the people?; Elizabeth Brauer, Self: Bad bill. Another shot at voter suppression, making it harder to register someone to vote. Why not implement automatic voter registration?; Mary Gaudio, Self: When many eligible voters fail to register, why make it more difficult for concerned/engaged Arizonans who want to help get more folks registered do so? This bill is affront to Democracy, based on fear and animosity toward the opposing party. NO.; Julia Wills, Self: Individuals who volunteer to help sign up new voters, should not be penalized by one more hoop to jump through.; Roy Verdery, Self: Voter suppression bill! Unnecessary and undemocratic bill which would make it harder to register voters. Onerous and unnecessary - a solution looking for a problem.; Robert Lynne, Self: This is akin to voter suppression.; David Williams, Self: more voter suppression; Diane Nevill, Self: This law simply discourages citizens from helping to register their neighbors to vote. It is unnecessary and punitive.; Amy Gaiennie, Self: Increases the difficulty of registration. Completely unnecessary.; Paula Parkel, Self: Another one of your attempts at voter suppression; Christina Early, Self: Voter suppression!; Diane McQueen, Self: This is an outrageous bill that does nothing but make it harder for people to register to vote and then to be able to vote. btw: I am a registered Arizona voter who lives in AZ and am not a bot.; Erin McCamish, Self: Make it easier to vote and register to vote, not harder.; Kathleen Bower, Self: A true democracy would try to make it easier for it's citizens to vote.; Mary Keerins, Self: This is an unnecessary bill. Oppose; Susan Nee, Self: As someone who does voter registration, I oppose this bill. We register both Republicans and Democrats and this is unnecessary and punitive as it will invalidate any registrations on which someone omits the identifier.; Cynthia Wagner, Self: Unnecessary and punitive and more voter suppression. Hampers voter registration process; Laura Terech, Self: This is unnecessary and risks invalidating registrations.; Jisoo Kim, Self: I was a nervous college freshman when I worked my first campaign and canvassed at public events and spaces. It was complicated enough as it is. There are already enough mechanisms in place to prevent fraud.; Deborah Howard, Self: Please vote against this bill. It is hard not to see this bill as an effort to not just suppress the vote, but to also suppress voter registration drives. What public good comes from this? County and State elections officials have this covered. All citizens of AZ should be able to vote.; Kelsey Wilkes, Self: VOTER SUPPRESSION. JUST STOP!; Joseph Alexander, Self: When we need more citizen voter participation, this bill attempts to handicap voter registration.; James Behra, Self: This bill has but one purpose: to make it more difficult for people to vote. It is anti-democratic and politically self-serving. I strongly oppose this horrible piece of proposed legislation.; Peggy Kile, Self: More voter suppression.; Peggy McMahon, Self: AGAINST. AGAINST. Another attempt at voter suppression by making it harder to vote. Unconstitutional. Crystal Bazarnic, Self: Vote yes!;

Gary Knopp, Self: Strongly support!;

Candice Fremouw, Self: as was evident in the primaries and also local elections we need to avoid runoffs;

Abby Brill, Self: Yes to ranked choice voting. It will make primary elections so much simpler. Vote YES!;

Margaret Owen, Self: Yes! I like the idea of rank choice voting for presidential preference primaries. I like the idea of my candidate as 1 of 3. This would probably also calm "heated" election campaigns.;

Kathryn Anderson, Self: Ranked choice voting is a positive change in our voting process to better allow third parties to participate.;

Mary Benin, Self: has a good chance of turning down the temperature on politics and allowing more consensus. Worth a try!;

Leslie Hunten, Self: Ranked choice voting is a common-sense measure that would improve efficiency and representation. Let's do it!;

Elizabeth Brauer, Self: Ranked choice voting will help reduce the polarization of presidential campaigns. Good ideal;

Mary Gaudio, Self: Makes sense to me!;

Roy Verdery, Self: Ranked - choice voting would decrease costs and increase the number of potential candidates in the Presidential Preference elections.;

Carol Garnett, Self: This would be a great improvement to our present system.;

Jennifer Dawson, Self: Common sense. and easy to understand.;

Rita Day, Self: This will make it more difficult to register voters & create more unnecessary paper work. Its VOTER SUPPRESSION. If citizens want to encourage people to vote by helping them register, that is a positive thing. It's performing a civic duty.;

James Stein, Self: Anything to promote a less divisive election;

David Williams, Self: Great ideal;

Linda Block, Self: Help to increase representation for underrepresented categories of people.;

Diane Nevill, Self: Ranked-choice voting in presidential elections is being done successfully in other states. Arizona should try it.;

Diane McQueen, Self: btw: I am a registered Arizona voter who lives in AZ and am not a bot.;

Kathleen Bower, Self: Yay! Brilliant ideal;

Mary Keerins, Self: This form of voting increases voter engagement;

Susan Nee, Self: This system will help decrease the temperature of polarized election campaigns and increase representation for underrepresented categories of people; Laura Terech, Self: I am strongly in support of ranked-choice voting, particularly for presidential preference primaries.; Jisoo Kim, Self: This is more democratic than our current system. We'll have better results and better candidates over time.; Deborah Howard, Self: Please support this bill that would establish ranked choice voting in AZ presidential preference Elections. Some states and jurisdictions have used RCV successfully. It would suit AZ's "maverick" streak - voters can rank the candidates. Thank you.; Jacqueline Bauer, Self: Love, love, love ranked choice voting as a meaningful voting reform that empowers voters to say what they want. Imagine!!! Democracy!!!; Nelson Morgan, Self: Ranked choice voting has worked well elsewhere.; Jane Atkins, Self: This would improve voter turnout; Peggy Kile, Self: An excellent idea; Jasmine Chan, Self: Ranked-choice voting is a better representation of voter preference; Mary Lou Moore, Self: Other states use this methodology successfully so can AZ; Jennifer Turrell, Self: This system may be able to help decrease the tension of polarized election campaigns and increase representation for underrepresented people. I support this bill. Please vote yes.; Mavis Brauer, Self: Rank-choice voting increases under represented people and this is a good ideal; Marilyn Bernhardt, Self: Ranked choice voting has been shown to encourage candidates to reach out to all voters - a much more equitable system than party primaries.; Stephen Kelsey, Self: Ranked choice voting will save all of us money, avoiding unnecessary run off elections; Margaret Tinsley, Self: good idea; Jan Perozeni Corbus, Self: Let people vote for multiple candidates in order of preference.; Carissa Sipp, Self: ranked choice is a good thing in the hyper polarized world; Russell Tucker, Self: Support ranked choice voting.; Marilyn Murov, Self: This will help decrease the temperature of polarized election campaigns and increase representation for underrepresented categories of people. This will be helpful when I deem 2 or more candidates worthy of election.; Randy Brown, Self: This would produce a result that elects the candidate more closely aligned with your political positions given that your more preferred choices did not win. Would like to see it applied to ALL elections.; Sydney Brown, Self: RCV is an idea whose time has come. This will improve our results in getting candidates more closely aligned with our political positions.; Theresa Ryan, Self: This bill would help lower partisan results.; RITA DEPUYDT, Self: Ranked choice is a much more democratic system.; Bridget Bellavigna, Self: This exciting system will help decrease the temperature of polarized election campaigns and increase representation for underrepresented categories of people; Susan Knopp, Self: hit wrong button revised vote; Vanessa Goldberg, Self: This will make the primary process more democratic.; Bettina Aguilera, Self: I support this bill to lower the amount of polarization, increase representation of minority populations.; Jere Fredenburgh, Self: cumbersome for no purpose; Susan Hicks, Self: Not a good bill; James Dutton, Self: kill this bill; Carol Maas, Self: I oppose rank choice voting.; Gayle Peters, Self: Unnecessary to make the process of voting more difficult and confusing.; Debra Cabell, Self: Voter suppression; Stephen Harris, Self: We need to clean up voting rolls, and control mail in ballot process (restricted to real need) while using poll voting with ID to assure only valid citizens vote. Not add more complexity and areas of manipulation!; Margaret Jennings, Self: Don't California our Arizona.; Catherine Kossler, Self: As a resident of Arizona, I'm asking you to vote NO on this because it makes voting more complicated and cumbersome. Keep it simple!; Nikki Colletti, Self: makes the simple act of marking your preferred candidate a very cumbersome and complicated matter; Elizabeth Harris, Self: This makes the simple act of marking your preferred candidate a very complicated matter.; Carol Ayotte, Self: Keep things simple, voting is complicated enough; Tamara Holley, Self: Complicates and confuses the voting process.; Sue Unverricht, Self: Keep elections simple and processes transparent, please.; Ric Aust, Self: never a good idea; Tina Pouliot, Self: very bad idea; Donald Hiatt, Self: This is not a good bill. It makes the simple act of marking your preferred candidate a very cumbersome and complicated matter.; Linda Busam, Self: It makes the simple act of marking your preferred candidate a very cumbersome and complicated matter. Vote against HB2378; Lawrence Peters, Self: RCV has pitfalls. A more strident candidate may score higher than more qualified quieter ones. Usually produces outcomes similar to ones from a standard plurality thus not to fostering legislative moderation or kinder campaign tactics.

All Comments:

George Moriarty, Self: I support this bill because it has some great parts and pieces. However, I oppose any and all statutory term limits. We the people already have the ability to limit terms at each election. Amend out the term limits, and this would be a perfect bill.; Roy Sandoval, Self: As a County School Superintendent for a rural county, I am responsible for making appointments for unfilled seats. It is already very difficult to find people to appoint. As well, institutional memory on rural local boards is essential.; Mary Darling, Self: Though representation is important, why are parents not running for School Board now?; Daniel Riordan, Self: The job is tough enough and we are in the middle of a storm, a steady hand on the tiller is more important now than ever.; Tim Carter, Self: All 15 County School Superintendents, who are responsible for school district elections are in agreement, this bill should be defeated. It is simply not workable, especially in rural counties which are having a very hard time finding candidates now.; kathleen mayer, Self: school board membership requires experience and expertise which results from longer terms. this is bad public policy prompted by distaste for what some boards have done.; Rivko Knox, Self: Why impose term limits when we have elections, which is the obvious way to 'limit' someones terms in office. Further, to impose it on unpaid school board members, when many such positions are left vacant, seems unreasonable!!; Karen McClelland, Self: Too many appointed board members. Takes time to learn complex, unstable AZ school finance system and advocate for change. Parents (and grands) often work multiple jobs to support kids. Effect will be to transfer power to supts, not the community;; Alicia Klassen, Self: I believe in local control. I'm not sure what problem this bill is trying to solve, but it would certainly limit the number of candidates that would be eligible when we already have a shortage of candidates.; Matt Weber, Self: We have an extremely hard time finding men and women to serve on our boards. This will complicate our efforts dramatically in keeping our districts represented well on our CTED Board.; Oris Friesen, Self: As one of your constituents I am opposed to the notion that emotions should overrule professional advice, especially when it comes to reopening schools during a pandemic, which apparently was the motivation for this bill.; Kristi Bencomo, Self: This bill does not fairly represent the community and the tax payers. It creates instability in governance by not staggering elections.; Richard Hopkins, Self: Another solution bill looking for a problem to fix. The problem is not the 'class' of people serving or for how long, the problem is local areas not running good conservative candidates. If passed, you will be replacing great, conservative members.; Robbie Koerperich, Self: This bill would cause severe hardships to maintain and sustain a quality governing board in smaller, rural school districts. We have had to appoint members for the past 15 years as we had no one run for the Board. Please do not advance this bill.; Steven Chapman, Self: This bill excludes eligible tax paying members of the public from being able to run for the board. No other office has a similar requirement. This will cause more seats to be vacant and put too much power in the county supt for appointments.; Sara Smith, Self: Some school districts can't even fill board seats and this will create more vacancy issues.; Erin Goodman, Self: SBs' legal and fiduciary duties don't include implementing parent demands. Notable that the sponsor believes this bill is necessary bc elected SB members "aren't listening to constituents". SBs can be voted out at election time just like House Reps.; Karen Syversen, Self: No 2 term limits for school board members please.; Elizabeth Putnam-Hidalgo, Self: THis is not a legislative issue. Term limits should be decided by each school board.; Jalyn Gerlich, Self: Current elections work in rural Arizona. We want to encourage participation in local school boards, this would restrict that participation.; Carol Maas, Self: I oppose this bill. We need people to serve on school boards. Limiting the time or restricting who can serve will harm the leadership we need at this local level.; Ruthanna Battilana, Self: People should be encouraged to serve on school boards, not limited.; Paul Tighe, Self: Many communities have to beg people to serve on governing boards. If there is an issue with a board member, this should be resolved with a democratic process, not through legislation that will make it harder to fill board positions.; Bryna Koch, Self: Oppose this bill. School board members should not be limited to people with children in a district and should not be term-limited as they are unpaid and non partisan.; Catherine Sigmon, Self: We need experienced school board members, so term limits are a poor idea. Let the voters decide.; Charlie Silver, Self: Experience matters.; Ruth Lambert, Self: Too many districts have a tough time fielding good candidates. Don't put unnecessary restrictions on them if they have a passion for good public education policy.; Barbara Oliver, Self: School board members have a hard job that needs extertise. We shoul'n't be making it harder for willing people to serve.; Susan Morris, Self: 2 years is barely enough time for school board members to get their feet wet. You must be aware that this is an elected positions. If parents don't feel listened to, they can vote the member out.; Greg Wyman, Self: Many Governing Board positions go unfilled due to a lack of candidates. The problem will increase by limiting eligible candidates. Eliminating staggered terms will create the need for 5 candidates every election, not realistic in many areas.; Rebecca Olsen McHood, Self: Longer service = more informed service. This is unnecessary and will lead to less functional school boards.; Karen Gresham, Self: I disagree that a majority should be parents/guardians. This bill goes too far.; Sharon Gerrard, Self: School board demanding, necessary job. Should not make it harder to get and keep job.; Jackie Rich, Self: unnecessary state government interference in school districts; Sarah Fanning, Self: LD17, 85248; Stacy Augustine, Self: A dishonest attempt to jettison board members that a particular legislature disagrees with.; Peter Coston, Self: It is difficult to find good school board members now. Why make more difficult? Parents have the opportunity to be elected if they want to help create board policy.; Lawrence Peters, Self: Why this UNCESSARY, FRIVOLOUS bill is being put forward? SK is clueless about how tough it is to get people to serve on school boards? Spend time properly funding public education, work on real COVID relief, AND GET US THE VACCINE. STOP WASTING TIME!; Elisabeth Haskell, Self: Communities elect school board members to demanding unpaid roles serving the whole community, not just their own family. Term-limiting board members would wipe out much on-the-job training & additional skill development needed to be effective.; Alexandra Dubois, Self: The school board is a position that benefits from institutional and process knowledge. While well intended, this bill will do more harm than good. Consider doubling the maximum limit for a stronger bill.; Linda Edwards, Self: Hard to find qualified volunteers.; Carole Flores, Self: onpartisan school board positions are demanding jobs that require real expertise and extensive on-the-job training. We shouldn't make it more difficult for willing and experienced people to serve, especially if they're prioritizing safety; Cheryl Colan, Self: The school board is a position that greatly benefits from institutional and process knowledge. This bill may be well intentioned but has the unintended consequence of preventing qualified people from serving. Voters can term limit ineffective people.; Andrew Flach, Self: Its hard enough to get competent people to run for school board; this would just lower school board quality; Susan Anderson, Self: A solution in search of a problem .; Carol Poole, Self: Would result in poorer decision-making due to lack of experience. Also, it would deter talented people from running.; Ellen M. Ferreira, Self: Valuable historic knowledge would be lost if we had to replace school board members after 2 terms.; Lynne Brasher, Self: The reality is, Arizona's unpaid, nonpartisan school board positions are demanding jobs that require real expertise and extensive on-the-job training. This is a tough time to be a school board member; we shouldn't be making it more difficult for will; Penny Boone, Self: I do not want to make it more difficult for willing and experienced people to serve even if they put public health and safety over individual parent whims. Closing schools during a pandemic was prudent for public safety.; Anne Leota Hart, Self: This is a ridiculous bill - school board members are trying to keep children, teachers and workers safe during a pandemic, They should not be replaced for putting public health and safety over the irrational desires of some parents.; Theresa Ratti, Self: School Board members need to be educated members of the community as well as educated in their position. It is a non-paid position and takes hours of time each week.; Jeffrey Fortney, Self: as a school board member - I'm disgusted; Marilyn Childs, Self: In my school district it is difficult to get the current number of board positions filled. Limiting terms will make it more difficult, and will also reduce the number of members with expertise and training.; Greer Warren, Self: Let the voters decide; Caroline Tompkins, Self: Any taxpayer in a district should have the option of serving. The voters can decide.; Carol Kennedy, Self: This bill would make it harder for boards to keep their experienced board members. It also restricts who can be on the board.; Sue Thorne, Self: Being a school board member is a very demanding job that most parents within school districts don't have time for. Decisions require experience & are made for the benefit and safety of all. The pandemic has caused much stress. Safety comes first!; Mary-Jeanne Fincher, Self: Why make it harder to find candidates for school boards? This doesn't make sense.; Roxanna Kearns, Self: Term limits are not appropriate for school board members. As an educator for 30+ years I know it's vital to have knowledge about the district and to have experience in order to make good decisions about children and families.; Jo Ann Caruthers, Self: Complicated job. Takes time to learn it. Not a good idea to limit term this way.; Candace Wilkinson, Self: As a former school board member, I suggest this would make it even harder for school boards to act in the best interest of students and families around Arizona. Please DO NOT PASS this bill. It's hard enough to fill school boards with good members.;

Rebecca Haynes, Self: We shouldn't be making it more difficult for able and experienced school board members to serve.;

Wendy Anderson, Self: I would trust the board- maybe if the Gov and Legislature directed more funding to schools they could give teachers emergency pay and also afford all the changes needed to make in person school safe for everyone.;

Irwin Sheer, Self: This could allow businesses to flaunt mask laws without having to be accountable. Without enforceable mask rules the virus will continue to spread causing damage to our economy.;

John Neville, Self: Legislative overreach. This is a local issue. Schools need excellent boards.;

Jessica Kitterman, Self: This is a tough time to be a school board member; we shouldn't be making it more difficult for willing and experienced people to serve, even if (or perhaps especially if) they put public health and safety over individual parent whims. Oppose.;

Crystal Bazarnic, Self: We don't have enough qualified individuals to serve school boards as it is. Cutting off the ones we have is counter-productive. Please vote no.;

Fred Miller, Self: How bout you Phoenix legislators keeping your nose out of local affairs? Bill after bill, this one among them, trying to suppress voters and limit community participation. Vote this odious bill down!;

Eileen Day, Self: Many parents don't have time to serve while parenting, but give back when their children move on. Moreover, it discriminates against people who do not have children, but are active in children's issues, i.e., mentoring, education, scouting, etc.;

Nancy Branham, Self: I would like to see school boards make their own rules. Also, if you don't have a child it should NOT preclude you from being on school board. We have amazing people in our communities who do not have children.;

Candice Fremouw, Self: this would result in more political appointments to fill empty seats We need to encourage more candidates not control those who serve.;

Elizabeth Douglas, Self: It is already hard to get people to serve on school boards. I'd rather limit it to those without a financial interest in school decisions. Similar to legislators who own charters and vote on them.;

Abby Brill, Self: This is too high a bar for civil action and favors irresponsible businesses over the public. Vote NO!;

Margaret Owen, Self: It is tough get & retain new school board members with enough on-the-job-training & expertise to be effective. Foolish to make it more difficult for citizens to serve. Their "terms" are what the voters say - they are either reelected or not.;

Elizabeth Brauer, Self: School board member is a tough job. This is unnecessarily restricting the pool of people willing to serve.;

Mary Gaudio, Self: Unpaid, and highly committed/experienced school board members are doing their best to protect and serve their communities, especially during this pandemic. This bill is short-sighted and not in the best interest of our communities.;

Dee Maitland, Self: Stop micro-managing who voters want.;

Michael Westcott, Self: Local voters should determine the duration of a school board member's term, not term limits. This will exacerbate the problem with vacant board seats statewide.;

Julia Wills, Self: This would cause an unnecessary burden in rural towns & cities where it can be hard to get people to volunteer for school boards.;

Roy Verdery, Self: Unnecessary State interference in school board makeup that would tend to eliminate experienced board members.;

Carol Garnett, Self: These are unpaid positions elected by voters. Replace them by voting not rules. We need their experience.;

Jennifer Dawson, Self: Experience is needed for these jobs - and that takes time, not term limits.;

Linda Guarino, Self: Let the voters decide term limits.;

Rita Day, Self: AZ's unpaid, nonpartisan school board positions are demanding jobs that require real expertise & on-job-training. This is a tough time to be a board member. We shouldn't make it more difficult for willing, experienced people to serve.;

Sandra Rizzo, Self: School boards should be led by best and brightest - even if their children have passed beyond school age. This is a backlash against those who wanted to keep schools closed during a pandemic against some parents' wishes. Safety comes FIRST.;

Diane Nevill, Self: If we have good school board members, we should let them remain past a two-term limit. It isn't easy to find qualified people for these positions.;

Amy Gaiennie, Self: School board positions are demanding and require expertise and extensive training. We shouldn't make it more difficult for willing and experienced people to serve.;

Diane McQueen, Self: btw: I am a registered Arizona voter who lives in AZ and am not a bot.;

Erin McCamish, Self: Experience is a good thing!;

Kathleen Bower, Self: Experience is priceless. So is institutional memory.;

Maria Hidalgo, Self: No on 2435! AZ's unpaid, nonpartisan school board positions are demanding jobs that require real expertise & extensive on-the-job training. This is a tough time to be a school board member; we shouldn't be making it more difficult to serve.; Mary Keerins, Self: School Boards do not need term limits; Cynthia Wagner, Self: Should not be difficult for experienced people to serve; Laura Terech, Self: While I support term limits, 8 years is a short time. We shouldn't make it more difficult for those with experience and a willingness to serve.; Deborah Howard, Self: Please vote no on this bill. No public good is derived from this bill to impose term limits on Arizona's volunteer, non-partisan school board members - the most under appreciated of any elected position that does not already exist at the ballot box.; Kathleen Corley, Self: There is no research-based reason to bar individuals without children from serving on school boards.; Jacqueline Bauer, Self: Term limits hinder the development of expertise in government. I would consider these measures if also proposed for private corp CEOs.; James Behra, Self: This is a ridiculous, shortsighted proposal. Consider this: this bill would disqualify career educators with years of experience, who had grown children, no children, or children attending school elsewhere from serving on a school board. Absurd!; Braden Biggs, Self: This bill directly removes the ability for the community to make up the elected officials. Non-parents are district taxpayers who help fund schools so rightfully we should have a say in how our schools are ran.; Mark Schneider, Self: I strenuously oppose this bill to impose a 2-term limit for school board members, but I'd strongly support a bill for 2-term limit of legislators; Bill Stiteler, Self: This will negatively impact rural communities and the ability of school boards to have continuity of membership and maintain full cadre of board members; Margaret Cordovano, Self: There is no reason to limit the term of someone who want to serve on the school board. Experience is important. Not having a child or grandchild in the schools doesn't mean their opinion is not of value. Don't make it more difficult to serve.; Peggy McMahon, Self: AGAINST; Jasmine Chan, Self: This is unnecessary and blocks the good work that school board members do.; John Gleason, Self: stop trtying to micromanage!! School districts have their own elections and boards and should manage them will without interference; William Hamilton, Self: So...school boards responsive to their communities and not to the fantasies of covid-denial promulgated by our AZ legislature should be thrown out. It takes a lot of expertise and experience to manage schools. This is again an attempt to destroy PS; Mavis Brauer, Self: School board members are non paid and takes time to acquire the experience necessary. They do not need to be at the whim of disgruntled parents.; Stephen Kelsey, Self: School board members need experience and expertise. Voters can monitor their record; Kristin Fray, Self: There is no need for the legislature to interfere in a school district's ability to set their own rules, or for voters to select their preferred candidates.; Marjorie Shavlik, Self: Arizona's unpaid, nonpartisan school board positions are demanding jobs that require real expertise and extensive on-the-job training. We shouldn't be making it more difficult for willing and experienced people to serve.; Jan Perozeni Corbus, Self: This is a challenging job; do not make it more difficult by a term limit. This bill really has to do with the current situation and the Pandemic....wanting to replace the current board!; Sharon Trujillo, Self: LD26 Voter; Theresa Ryan, Self: This bill would make it more difficult for willing and experienced people to serve.; Laurie Nerat, Self: This is a tough time to be a school board member; we shouldn't be making it more difficult for willing and experienced people to serve; David Klever, Self: As a governing board member in a rural district, I feel this would be detrimental to filling board positions. There is already little or no competition in school board elections and this would mean qualified dedicated people will term out.; Chris Kotterman, AZ SCHOOL BOARDS ASSOCIATION: ASBA is opposed to this bill; Vanessa Goldberg, Self: Leave those demanding positions requiring expertise alone already!

Jeanne Devine, Self: This would make the permitting process less accountable to the public.; Peter Bengtson, Self: This bill will make the process even less accountable to the public.; Alisa McMahon, Self: This would grow government bureaucracy, politicize permitting processes, undermine the staff of state departments, and make the permitting process less accountable to the public.; Michael Fiflis, Self: This bill restricts agencies in doing their jobs when making permitting decisions and gives undue power to the Regulatory Review Commission over those decisions.; Sandy Whitley, Self: Re: creates state permitting director who would have undue influence on permitting decisions, referral to the Governor's Regulatory Review Council and favor big business. Gives agencies less of a voice, less accountability in the process.; Donna Walkuski, Self: This bill would decrease transparency and add more layers of bureaucracy at the expense of taxpayers.; Jana Segal, Self: It would defer permitting decisions to Governor's Regulatory Review Council, an entity set up to favor big businesses. Until the federal government commits to funding these extra needs, private grants help. Why the attack on voting in local communities?; Marlene Verdery, Self: Too much intrusion into other jurisdiction and private lives.. Way too much effort at prohibition by this legislature.; Linda Edwards, Self: Important as the fed govt is not doing enough.; Carole Flores, Self: Some election analysts say grant money was essential to avert disaster and that private funding is the best option if the federal gov't doesn't commit to sustainable long-term funding.; Cheryl Colan, Self: There are many instances where, in the absence of sustainable federal election funding, cities and counties accept private grants as essential to make sure citizens can vote. Reject this bill. You should want every eligible voter to vote!; Carol Poole, Self: Not a good idea until there's a reasonable federal substitute for these funds.; Penny Boone, Self: Grant money was essential to averting disaster in the recent election. Private funding is the best option if the federal government isn't going to commit to sustainable long-term funding. I oppose this bill.; Carol Kennedy, Self: Any assistance to make elections more accessible to voters should be welcomed!; Kathleen Dubbs, Self: sometimes we have to be flexible; Sue Thorne, Self: Rep. Hoffman! What do you have against ALL Arizonans voting: Repubs, Dems, Indeps. in AZ elections? Could it be that you are suppressing the vote? Election analysts say private funding is best to provide access for ALL when fed gov. doesn't provide.; Stephen Harris, Self: too much conflict of interest; Roxanna Kearns, Self: Do not prohibit cities, counties and school districts from receiving private funds to prepare for or conduct an election, including registering voters. Grant money improves access to polls for all voters. Registering voters is vital to fair election;

Edna Weigel, Self: stop voter suppression!; Rebecca Haynes, Self: This is an attempt at further voter suppression.;

Wendy Anderson, Self: Another way to suppress voting- if the Gov cant pay to have plenty of polling places then private donations are needed. To win elections you need to provide good public policy instead of restricting who can vote.;

Irwin Sheer, Self: Elections are expensive. A prohibition of private funds would discriminate against poor communities. This is a voter suppression bill.;

Jessica Kitterman, Self: Grant money was essential to averting disaster of not having enough $ for an election and private funding may be the best option if the federal government isn't going to commit to sustainable long-term funding. Oppose;

Fred Miller, Self: Is there no end of Phoenix legislators attempting to dictate to cities and counties what they can and can't do? Another effort to impose added costs to the voting process. Vote this crappy bill down!;

Candice Fremouw, Self: If Arizona would fully fund public education there would not be a need to conduct overrides or bonds This would be a mute point;

Abby Brill, Self: What's wrong with getting a grant to help hold elections if it helps improve access to the polls? Vote NO!;

Mary Benin, Self: If government can't or won't meet the costs involved in conducting an election in the pandemic, we need to be able to accept funds from private groups to make voting accessible to all.;

Elizabeth Brauer, Self: Bad bill. Access to voting should be as simple and easy as possible.;

Mary Gaudio, Self: Our right to vote is fundamental to our Democracy. More polling places, registrars = more participation in our Democracy. Bills that work against these efforts are shameful. Vote NO!;

Julia Wills, Self: This is another attempt at Voter Suppression.;

Roy Verdery, Self: If the government doesn't provide sufficiently to hold an election then only private funds and grants are available.;

Carol Garnett, Self: Will you replace it with adequate funding for election preparation and voter registration? If not, reject this ban .;

Jennifer Dawson, Self: If the fed gov isn't helping out, private funding is essential.;

Linda Guarino, Self: Private money was needed to support elections last year because the government did not provide enough.;

Rita Day, Self: Rear facing infant seats have been proven to be safer. This bill revises our car safety laws to keep up with the latest research. SAFETY OF OUR CHILDREN IS IMPORTANT!;

Diane Nevill, Self: Cities, counties and school districts should be able to receive private funds to prepare for or conduct an election. This includes registering voters. It wouldn't be necessary if the federal government funded these efforts.;

Christina Early, Self: Voter suppression;

Diane McQueen, Self: This bill is just another way to make it harder for people to vote. btw: I am a registered Arizona voter who lives in AZ and am not a bot.;

Maria Hidalgo, Self: No on 2569. Conservatives sued on grounds such grants would disproportionately help Democrats, but some election analysts say the grant money was essential to averting disaster & that private funding is the best option if the federal gov. BAD BILL!;

Cynthia Wagner, Self: Voter suppression. Should not make it more difficult to vote. What's wrong with getting grant $ if it improves access to polls.;

Deborah Howard, Self: Please vote no on this bill. Civic engagement is a cornerstone of our democracy and is to be encouraged, not limited. Long-term sustainable government funding is ideal. In its absence private grant funding is appropriate. Stop the war on democracy.;

Kelsey Wilkes, Self: Wouldn't this improve access to voting? Isn't that a good thing? I think so!;

Peggy Kile, Self: Voter suppression again.;

Robert Maier, Self: If you are really worried about this, then propose regulations on how the money may be used. But private contributions to the government are a form of patriotism so long as there is not a quid pro quo.;

Peggy McMahon, Self: AGAINST;

John Gleason, Self: Yikes!!! BAD BAD IDEA. Remember the old saying: Never look a gift horse in the mouth!!!;

William Hamilton, Self: For most of my 76 years, "conservatives" have worked hard to defund govt activities and move to the private sector. Now that their voter suppression is undermined by private sector funding, they want to prohibit it. Transparent and hypocritical.;

Jennifer Turrell, Self: The pandemic proved that we need to be able to have flexibility in order to make sure that voters are able to vote safely. I oppose this bill.;

Mavis Brauer, Self: Another attempt by the GOP at voter suppression. The more people that are allowed to vote, the worse it is for the GOP. Hmmm.;

Marilyn Bernhardt, Self: There is no reason for this restriction. It's not like AZ has tons of money and can't use private $ help.;

Marjorie Shavlik, Self: Businesses need to follow the executive orders in this time of Covid-19.;

Margaret Tinsley, Self: no;

Edith Dillon, Self: Private funding is the best option if the federal government isn't going to commit to sustainable long-term funding.; Marilyn Murov, Self: Some cities, counties and school districts received private funds during the pandemic to meet the extraordinary costs of holding an election. Without these funds many voters would have lost the opportunity to vote. this is voter suppression; Elizabeth Studstill, Self: Stop making it harder for people to vote.; Kathy Florence, Self: There is no need for this restrictive bill.; Lisa Maczura, Self: More voter suppression.; Elizabeth Craig, Self: The bill does not address a problem but rather creates one.; Julie Pindzola, Self: Many state governments are underfunding elections, sometimes it seems, to make voting difficult. Arizona needs the private grant monies to help ensure a free and fair election process. People deserve to vote safely and conveniently.; Vanessa Goldberg, Self: Another attack on our democratic elections!; Scott Walter, Self: Testifying remotely.

Adriane Wollaston, Self: Licenses are granted on specific criteria. If those criteria are so incomplete as to allow a reason not stated therein to determine the legitimacy of the license, than revise the criteria. Otherwise, it's nothing but Government capriciousness.; Sue Unverricht, Self: Protect small business in AZ!; Jere Fredenburgh, Self: Absolutely! will allow businesses to reopen w/o draconian restrictions and remove the fear of law suits. OPEN ARIZONA. Let people CHOOSE, that is freedom.; Rose Sperry, Self: EXCELLENT!; Christine Maceri Genge, Self: No more arbitrary mandates by politicians. No more picking and choosing who or what is "essential."; Gayle Peters, Self: Arizona governor should not be allowed to use license revocation as a method of enforcing compliance with governor mandates. Doing so is an abuse of power.; Stephen Harris, Self: We must really follow the science, not some feeling or dictate.; Gail Golec, Self: Who are these people that think Government is supposed to rule upon their every move? The statutes were supposed to regulate how Representatives would enforce the Constitution, not make laws on the People. This is a Strong YES. FREEDOM.; Randy Brown, Self: This would STOP the government from using a business license (which is a tax collection mechanism) as a club to force compliance with tyrannical government edicts.; Sydney Brown, Self: Open Arizona! Individuals choose better for themselves than government officials and bureaucrats who do not suffer the consequences of their edicts.; Dustin Landagora, Self: Revoking licenses is draconian, if the business was not the source of the transmission. Small and medium businesses are being unfairly disadvantaged.; Carol Ayotte, Self: At this time with all the know information about this pandemic and the 99+% survival rate, there is absolutely no need to have the government have the type of power that it has been wielding against business owners; Jason Trevino, Self: no emergency should be used; madison burr, Self: this should never be allowed; Linda Busam, Self: In full support of HB2570; Hans Buhrer, Self: Executive action is driven by science and expert advice. It is foolish to empower business owners who are completely ignorant about science to ignore such executive action.; Daniel Riordan, Self: Public safety and community well being are first priority... I hope?; kathleen mayer, Self: this is so dumb. without money for contact tracing, which you have refused to supply, you can't prove the source. Everyone has a responsibility to protect others during a pandemic, including businesses.; Rivko Knox, Self: I trust health departments to keep the public as safe as possible. This bill would prohibit them from carrying out their duties.; Alicia Klassen, Self: I trust the health department more than I trust the legislature.; Peggie Jo Vincent, Self: This politicizes a health emergency wheret everyone needs to step-up to protect the community.; Karen Syversen, Self: Bars should not be allowed to remain open if they can't follow health department guidelines.; Dianne Post, Self: Absolutely a violation of public health and even business ability to make their own decisions! For sake of a conspiracy theory on the internet.; Margaret Baca, Self: If they refuse to comply, then they must be held accountable. These are the same people that refuse to comply and scream to open schools! Science matters.; Bryna Koch, Self: Oppose this bill. Unless accompanied by robust funding for contract tracing, there is no way to implement such a standard of proof.; Barbara Oliver, Self: Cities and counties plus state agencies NEED to be able to revoke a license when the business is ignoring Covid guidelines. This bill seems to be for the pandemic and not for the voters. PLEASE DEFEAT!; Cynthia Correll, Self: We are all in this together, including businesses; Susan Morris, Self: Why should businesses be able to get away with flouting executive orders, whether or not there is proof that covid was transmitted on their premises? Order are there for a reason and refusing to follow them leads to increased numbers of covid victims; Christa Sadler, Self: Stop supporting business interests over the health and safety of your own citizens!; Brenda Nelson, Self: OPPOSE; Jackie Rich, Self: We need to support measures to protect public health.; Sarah Fanning, Self: LD17, 85248; Stacy Augustine, Self: More special-interest legislation from those who don't understand epidemiology and public health.; Peter Coston, Self: Seems to me individual communities are working this problem out well without the state government's help.; Lawrence Peters, Self: RULES WERE IMPOSED TO SAVE LIVES. NEXT PANDEMIC DO LEGISLATORS WANT EVERYTHING TO STAY OPEN WITHOUT REGARD TO LETHAL IMPACT OF INFECTIONS? Work on COVID relief funds; AZ R LAWMAKERS LOVE TO GO BEYOND JURISDICTION SO WORK FOR US & GET THE VACCINE; Marlene Verdery, Self: Business should comply with health regulations and subject to closure if in violation.; Linda Edwards, Self: Too much regulation.; Carole Flores, Self: Bars remain closed because Arizona's coronavirus case and death numbers are still too high for them to reopen, and gyms and restaurants must continue to operate at reduced capacity to keep us safe until we are vaccinated.; Suellen LeMay, Self: It is virtually impossible to prove exact transmission. It is likewise very easy to understand the role public health mandates play in slowing transmission and saving lives.; Cheryl Colan, Self: I am opposed to protecting businesses that irresponsibly refuse to follow an executive order. State agencies, cities, and counties must retain the ability to revoke the license of businesses violating public health orders. Stop with this power grab.; Andrew Flach, Self: Not a fan of efforts to undermine public health; Lynne Brasher, Self: this type of action is why 14K AZ's aren't here to RTS; Donna Walkuski, Self: Businesses should be held accountable for actions endangering public health.; Penny Boone, Self: Revoking the license of a business that violated an executive order during a pandemic may be necessary for public health and safety. I oppose this bill.; Greer Warren, Self: Science denial is behind this.; Carol Kennedy, Self: During a crisis like we are in now, having businesses comply with an executive order is critical.; Kathleen Dubbs, Self: So businesses can just decide what orders they want to obey?; Sue Thorne, Self: Not complying with emergency directives to stop the spread of this stealth virus that has killed and disabled so many Arizonans is cause enough to revoke a license. We must take the spread of this virus & its mutations seriously to get back to normal.; Mary-Jeanne Fincher, Self: This bill is detrimental to public safety.; Roxanna Kearns, Self: If a business violates an executive order their license should be revoked. Proof of transmission of a disease such as Covid-19 should not be necessary to close a business in violation.; Edna Weigel, Self: protect public instead of private business; Rebecca Haynes, Self: There must be penalties for businesses defying public health protections.; Wendy Anderson, Self: Executive orders can be issued for reasons other than this pandemic- be careful what you ask for- this action could have unexpected effects at a later time.; Irwin Sheer, Self: Bars, restaurants and gyms are obvious places that can help to spread the virus. Proving transmission is nearly impossible at this point. We need to slow transmission of the virus and accelerate vaccinations.; John Neville, Self: this bill is an anti-health bill - it promotes bad businesses over all the good businesses.; Jessica Kitterman, Self: The health department needs to retain the right to close businesses if they are not following health guidelines, especially during a pandemic. Oppose; Gary Knopp, Self: Crazy; Candice Fremouw, Self: there must be recourse for a business that does not comply with the mandates in place for the good of the public; Abby Brill, Self: Let the health department enforce public safety policy. Vote NO!; Mary Benin, Self: Scientists know that being in a crowded bar greatly increases the chances of getting Covid-19. This bill would greatly increase the spread of Covid 19 because an individual can't prove they got it at a bar, and bars would open. Vote NO Keep us safe!; Charlotte Lis, Self: If high risk businesses cannot or will not follow an executive order they should lose their licenses.; Mary Gaudio, Self: It is depressing how many bills are being heard that would actually lead to more deaths and heartache vs. help get us out of this Covid nightmare. Vote no!!!; Julia Wills, Self: This is legislature overreach. State-wide bans especially during a state-wide emergency tie the hands of emergency officials.; Roy Verdery, Self: Revoking the license of a business which violates an order designed to protect the public is entirely appropriate.; Carol Garnett, Self: A ban on agencies from doing their jobs to protect us. And making executive orders less enforceable. We want them to protect us, the citizens and rely on their judgement.; Jennifer Dawson, Self: This bill supports businesses that threaten the public by not adhering to public health guidelines. Those businesses will continue to spread COVID.; Rita Day, Self: This bill protects businesses that refuse to follow Public Health Guidelines & executive orders. The Public safety is put at risk by their irresponsible actions. This bill bans revoking the license of these irresponsible business. OPPOSE THE BILL.; Sandra Rizzo, Self: If they violate, they need to be held accountable. It's important we PREVENT spread in a pandemic, not that it's proven by a case transmission (too late). We must protect our citizens by wisest science-based course, not let violators off the hook.; Patricia Edelen, Self: Any business that refuses to follow emergency rules should be punished - and revoking licenses is reasonable for blatant disregard of regulations.; Diane Nevill, Self: State agencies, cities and counties should have the ability to revoke the license of a business that violates an executive order.; Diane McQueen, Self: btw: I am a registered Arizona voter who lives in AZ and am not a bot.; Erin McCamish, Self: Covid is real and serious whether you like it or not. Rules about masks and other safety measures must be enforced or they won't be followed and more people will die.; Mary Keerins, Self: Think long term and realize that this is not tenable. There are lots of reasons why the health department may issue guide lines and businesses must comply; Ruth Porter-Tilman, Self: This is more authoritarianism inspired by ignorance.; Cynthia Wagner, Self: Pro business anti accountability; Laura Terech, Self: Government agencies should be able to revoke licenses of businesses that don't comply with orders designed to keep all of us safe in the midst of a pandemic.; Deborah Howard, Self: Exactly how many Arizonans must die from COVID before those lives matter more than posturing to promote business, specifically bars? It is possible to comply with health guidelines and serve customers. Stop encouraging reckless behavior. Vote No.; Kathleen Corley, Self: This bill is an irresponsible proposal in the midst of the pandemic. Passage would undermine health officials efforts to get CoVid19 spread under control and encourage business to flaunt health mandates.; Jacqueline Bauer, Self: In WWII people banded together to achieve community & national goals. I'm glad Rep Hoffman wasn't around then. Also, I'm tired of quarantining and if you, Rep Hoffman, would just focus & stop being a pansy, we could beat this thing.; Nelson Morgan, Self: This bill could worsen the spread of the pandemic. Frankly insane.; Kelsey Wilkes, Self: Stop protecting business that don't want to protect the public.; Joseph Alexander, Self: In cases of urgent threats to public health and safety, governments must be able to enforce measures to mitigate such emergencies. No teeth, no protection.; Peggy McMahon, Self: AGAINST; William Hamilton, Self: Another bill proving that AZ Republicans DO NOT CARE about the health and safety of their citizens. This bill WILL KILL many of us. Your big-business supporting, covid-denial CANNOT be allowed to Trump science-driven decisions! NO NO NO; Samantha Meier, Self: Arizona's COVID-19 response has already been woefully inadequate. Why on earth strip from state agencies what little power they have to enforce necessary public health measures?; Jennifer Turrell, Self: We have seen the fallacy in this kind of thinking with the multiple spikes in COVID cases and deaths over the course of the past year here in Arizona. The health department needs to be able to close businesses who won't comply with health guidelines.; Mavis Brauer, Self: This is pro business and anti accountability for how they run their business.; Marilyn Bernhardt, Self: License revocation is a reasonable penalty for repeated failure to obey the law and protect public safety. This is a panDEMIC for heaven's sake!; Stephen Kelsey, Self: In the time of a pandemic, it is imperative that the health department will be able to enforce safety rules for the entire community; Margaret Tinsley, Self: no; Jan Perozeni Corbus, Self: As an RN, I know it is difficult "to prove" Covid transmission. This bill favors business and promotes unsafe practices with no accountability.; Sharon Trujillo, Self: LD26 Voter - Create legislation to take all the teeth out of executive orders? Why would we make it permissible to defy orders from the Governor? Bad precedent. This is overreach into authority granted the Executive Branch.; Russell Tucker, Self: Businesses must follow executive orders.; Cheryl Purvis, Self: This would interfere with the ability of the state and of municipalities to deal with public health emergencies.; Elizabeth Studstill, Self: "Only if you can prove someone got hurt" is not how crime works. Businesses don't get to just decide to ignore executive orders as it pleases them.; Theresa Ryan, Self: Our numbers are still too high.; Teresa Gerschutz, Self: Why should businesses not follow the laws? Oppose this bill and provide financial assistance to the small businesses during pandemic emergencies. This is the only way to get back to normal. Let's follow the CDC law, state law and get past this.; Kathy Florence, Self: There is no need for this restrictive bill.; Lisa Maczura, Self: Public health is more important than anything.; Vanessa Goldberg, Self: There is a reason for executive orders - especially during a deadly pandemic!; Robin Hillyard, COUNTY SUPERVISORS ASSN OF AZ: Bill does not contemplate holding businesses accountable for failure to help reduce the spread of the disease when operating during a pandemic even after multiple attempts to work with the business to correct violations.

kathy debolt, Self: no massmailing; Jere Fredenburgh, Self: All 'mail in ballot' scam....Early ballots should be absentee only and ONLY by request for THAT election. PEVL should be done away with also.; Kristi Bencomo, Self: I worked during the elections in a remote precinct that received early mail ballots without the voters request and the voters were very angry that we had to do provisional ballots when they expected to vote at the polls on election day.; Jered Skousen, Self: Specifies that a county recorder or other election officer may not deliver or mail an early ballot to a person who has not requested an early ballot for that election.; Gary Johnson, Self: This will help to reduce ballots being mailed to voters who have moved, died, etc.; Bill Blewster, Self: THIS IS COMMON SENSE LEGISLATION THAT NEEDS TO BE PASSED TO KEEP US FROM UNIVERSAL VOTING-BY-MAIL. VOTE YES!; Barbara Blewster, Self: Early ballots should be requested. Please vote 'yes!'; Christine Maceri Genge, Self: No unsolicited ballots should ever be sent. If not asked for it means voter will vote in person, doesn't intend to vote or has moved.; Gayle Peters, Self: This should be a no brainer! No dispensing early ballots to people who haven't requested them!; Stephen Harris, Self: Early ballots must be more controlled. While I believe mail in ballots must be limited to the most limited of circumstances, this bill properly modifies current rules.; David Mills, Self: Early ballots should never given out unless requested.; Catherine Kossler, Self: I'm a Arizona resident and don't want ANY early ballots. This one is common sense: if the voter doesn't request it, we don't send them one!; Heather Leigh Wallace, Self: I received an early ballot and did not request one. I have friends who received early ballots for several people who had not lived at their home in years. This creates fraud. This corruption needs to end!; Nikki Colletti, Self: Common sense! You can't just send ballots out to people who have not requested them and been vetted as eligible to receive them!; James Roth, Self: we need this bill passed to preserve the integrity of our elections.; Jennifer Arroyo, Self: Steps must be taken to protect the integrity of our elections!; David Genge, Self: an early ballot should not be delivered or mailed to a person who has not requested an early ballot for that election; Inger Johnson, Self: YES!; Shannon Sharma, Self: There should never be mass mailings of ballots, especially to those who did not ask for one. The public should be held responsible at the individual level to request one, so that the chance for fraud is minimized.; Frances Ryan, Self: WE MUST BRING BACK ELECTION INTEGRITY OR NO ONE WILL VOTE; ROSA ROBLES, Self: Absolutely. This is how it was stolen !! Shame on us if it happens again.; Carol Ayotte, Self: Early voting requests should be required to prohibit the mass mailing of ballots. This would help to eliminate ballots sent to dead people, folks that have moved and the wrong person voting on their behalf, etc. etc.; Sue Unverricht, Self: No early ballots mailed out unless specially requested absentee ballots, please!; David

Dowdy, Self: Anyone voting against this is corrupt; Olaf Braun, Self: Absolute YES; John Burke, Self: Good idea. A yes!; Donald Hiatt, Self: Too much opportunity for voter fraud.; Andrea Ruston, Self: LD23 voter in zip 85258 who STRONGLY OPPOSES this measure. It creates needless hurdles to voting for seniors who depend on vote by mail, and wastes taxpayer funds for mailing and verifying requests every cycle.; Joan Murphy, Self: Another suppression tactic - early ballots will only go to registered voters!; Daniel Riordan, Self: Reaching out in chaotic times and being innovative to accomplish stated goals when they are derailed by circumstances is required, that should already be in the job description.; Marcia Tingley, Self: Why make it harder to vote? The US already has one of the lowest voter participation rates in the developed world. Let's make it EASIER to vote, not harder.; Adriane Wollaston, Self: A Class 5 felony is a slap on the wrist for an elected official who breaks an unambiguous law.; kathleen mayer, Self: retribution for helping people to vote during a pandemic from Jake "election misinformation" hoffman? not surprising for a proponent of the Big Lie. This is not necessary and certainly unduly punitive; Rivko Knox, Self: Another bill to limit voting based on the disproven myth of voter fraud. Even tho there was a very high turnout in 2020, normally the rate of Americans who vote is very low compared to most other parts of the developed world!!; Peter Bengtson, Self: This is certainly a terrible bill. I'm a PEVL voter and LOVE getting my ballots in the mail. I usually get them voted and back in the mail in a week or so. That gives the recorders office more time to process the ballots.; Alicia Klassen, Self: I don't believe it's ethical for a legislator that ran a troll farm to run a bill that would punish any government official with a felony.; Beatriz Urrea, Self: This is yet one more attempt to limit our voting rights.; Alisa McMahon, Self: I used to live in the State of Oregon and strongly support elections by mail.; Michael Fiflis, Self: Another voter suppression measure - it will impede getting less-proactive voters to participate and vote.; Claudia Bloom, Self: voter suppression; Karen Syversen, Self: It should not be a class 5 felony if a ballot is mailed without someone requesting it.; Wes Oswald, Self: Make it a felony to get an unrequested ballot? This seems like some serious meddling into our fair election system. Stop trying to make it more difficult for people to vote.; Dianne Post, Self: Blatant voter suppression.; Elizabeth Putnam-Hidalgo, Self: stop suppressing the vote.; Sandy Whitley, Self: Clearly attempt at voter suppression. Prohibits mailing early ballots to those who have not requested them. This would prohibit mailing ballots to everyone during a pandemic or make it so there could not be an all vote by mail election. Bad idea.; jacqueline Johnson, Self: This bill is a ridiculous attempt to suppress the vote of minority voters, older voters and/or rural voters.; Ruthanna Battilana, Self: A felony to send you a ballot? Sounds rather extreme.; Margaret Baca, Self: Yet... another means of voter suppression. I am amazed how much time and energy is spent trying to keep Arizonans from voting!! Disgracefull!; Bryna Koch, Self: Oppose this bill. Another attempt to make voting more difficult for eligible Arizonans.; Bridget Bellavigna, Self: More voter suppression efforts.; Elizabeth Goff, Self: We should strive to make it easier for our citizens to vote, not more difficult. WE WANT PEOPLE TO VOTE, and if you don't want that, Rep Hoffman, do a little self-examination.; Stefanie Richardson, Self: A felony? For voting?; Susan Penner, Self: Remember, you never know when an emergency may arise.; Karen VanAllen, Self: These anti-voting bills are shameful. You should be working on ways to encourage citizens to vote. These bills make you look weak and afraid.; Sharon Gerrard, Self: One more way to discourage voting.; Christa Sadler, Self: This is absurd. You are trying to criminalize our voting system. Send ballots to everyone, whether they request them or not, and no matter their party. We need more people involved in our democratic process, not fewer!; Brenda Nelson, Self: The election system works whether you agree with the outcome or not. STOP trying to suppress our votes, AZGOP. OPPOSE!; Jackie Rich, Self: Isn't it in Arizona's interest to encourage voting? This bill would discourage it.; Sarah Fanning, Self: LD17, 85248; Karen Randolph, Self: Why make it harder to vote?; Salie Travis, Self: Strongly oppose!; Stacy Augustine, Self: More from those who hate democracy and want to limit voting.; Peter Coston, Self: Instead of voter suppression like this, focus on bills that encourage voter participation.; Lawrence Peters, Self: THERE'S NO DATA TO SHOW THIS HAPPENS. WASTE OF LAWMAKER TIME. THERE IS ABSOLUTE PROOF OF NO VOTE FRAUD - FONTES' LOST REELECTION BID. AZ STATE R's REELECTED WITH VOTE HIKES OVER 2018. END THE PARTISAN REPUBLICAN ASSAULT ON VOTER RIGHTS & VOTER ACCESS; Linda Reichert, Self: In a democracy, we should be making it easier to vote, not harder.; Marlene Verdery, Self: voter suppression! This is the antithesis of what we need in AZ. All voters should receive a mailing ballot.; Lynn Ashby, Self: Another GOP voter suppression effort. This would prohibit mailing ballots to everyone during a pandemic or make it so there could not be an all vote by mail election even though over 80% of Arizonans already vote by mail.; Linda Edwards, Self: Too much regulation.; Carole Flores, Self: The United States already has one of the lowest voter participation rates in the developed world, Why should it be so hard to vote in America?; Elizabeth McClure, Self: Stop this! Seriously, this is another affront to our voting rights. Stop!; Kathleen Kanouse, Self: I think every registered voter should have a ballot mailed to them as happens in some other states; Cheryl Colan, Self: I am opposed to all efforts by the AZGOP to suppress Arizona citizens' votes. Say no to this bill.; Andrew Flach, Self: I am against all measures that make it harder to vote; Ryan Anderson, Self: Make it easier for people to vote, not harder.; Jennifer Jones, Self: This is a ridiculous bill. Let's spend our time and money giving more Arizonans a voice in our government, not less.; Debra Cabell, Self: This is voter suppression. Maricopa county should be encouraging all registered citizens to vote. What are you so afraid of?; Carol Poole, Self: Registered voters should all receive ballots without requesting them. This would simplify elections processing. So, no, one doesn't need to be criminally charged for providing the ballot. I; Gary Evans, Self: Voter suppression; Lynda Dean, Self: Everyone should receive an early ballot. Make voting easy.; Paula Toffolo, Self: A class 5 felony to send you a ballot?? Are you actually kidding? NO; Penny Boone, Self: This bill is another voter suppression effort. Voting in Az needs to be encouraged and made easier for qualified voters. I oppose this bill.; Janice Sandoz, Self: This is voter suppression.; Diane Lings, Self: GOP fearful; Mary Darling, Self: A Felony? No.; Margaret Adams, Self: Another bad bill from the very long list of voter suppression bills this session. Please do not pass!; Greer Warren, Self: Why make it HARDER to vote?; Carol Kennedy, Self: Arizona has many systems in place to check if a ballot sent in by a voter is authentic. This bill is not necessary.; Diane Leischow, Self: you've gone way over the top now; Kathleen Dubbs, Self: How many ways can you try to suppress the vote?; Sue Thorne, Self: Why is it so hard to vote in America?? Because right-wing idiots like J. Hoffman are trying their hardest to suppress the vote & Democracy! Fascism is an evil infection that has hold of right wing Repubs. AZ already has one of lowest voter turnouts; Mary-Jeanne Fincher, Self: County recorders who try to make it easier to vote deserve our thanks and credit, not this kind of draconian punishment.; Lynnda Evans, Self: Voter suppression; William S. James, Self: Should be trying to make voting easier, not harder; Jo Ann Caruthers, Self: Voter suppression again.; Edna Weigel, Self: stop voter suppression!; John Babicz, Self: this is voter suppression. We should be making it easy and efficient. I am not sure what is going on here, but that's not it. Please vote no.; Gary Knopp, Self: Strongly oppose; Nancy Branham, Self: We should ENCOURAGE people to vote. We have procedures in place to provide for secure voting. No fraud has been shown. Let the current system stand.; Candice Fremouw, Self: just because it is mailed doesn't require it to be used Provisional ballots will prevent it from being a duplicate ballot; Abby Brill, Self: Voting should be made easier rather than harder. EVERY eligible voter should be automatically on PEVL. VOTE NO!; Kathryn Anderson, Self: A true democracy allows and encourages all eligible voters to participate in elections.

Keep voting simple and accessible to all eligible voters.; Mary Benin, Self: The US has one of the lowest voter participation rates in the world. Another attempt to suppress the vote.; Helen Herziger, Self: Voter suppression; Elizabeth Brauer, Self: Terrible bill. We should be making it as easy as possible to vote. We do have a democracy, after all.; Mary Gaudio, Self: We should encourage voter participation vs. suppress it, or put people in harm's way during a pandemic in order to exercise their right to vote. Runs contrary to the idea that all lives matter, don't you think? Vote no.; Julia Wills, Self: It makes no sense to ban this. What if there is another emergency/pandemic in the future. Both sides will be affected by blanket bans.; Roy Verdery, Self: Voter suppression bill! It is already difficult to vote in this semi-rural state. The 2020 election is over and God-willing we'll never experience the like again. In the end state and local election officials handled it all just fine! Please vote no.; Kathleen Corley, Self: Why must there be an additional step to receive a ballot anyway? This bill would criminalize sending a ballot to someone who did not explicitly ask for one. Send every registered voter automatically. Remember the concept Participatory Democracy!; Nigel Taplin, Self: We need to encourage and facilitate voting. Our country and our state needs more voter participation, not less.; James Behra, Self: This bill is despicable! I can't believe that any AZ legislator actually wants to make it a crime to make it easy for people to vote. This is anti-democratic and penalizes people for promoting democracy.; Peggy Kile, Self: Voter suppression.; Robert Maier, Self: Early ballots SHOULD be mailed to all registered voters. Adequate safeguards exist to prevent double voting. I trust our County Recorders -- don't you?; Peggy McMahon, Self: AGAINST. Another bill for voter suppression. Jere Fredenburgh, Self: Common sense. MVD registers people 'automatically' and frequently the individual does not 'know' or 'want' and w/o asking 'who decides' which party? Three guesses the first 2 don't count.; Jered Skousen, Self: An officer or agent of this state, a political subdivision of this state or any other governmental entity in this state may not modify any deadline, filing date, submittal date or other election-related date that is provided for in statute; Gary Johnson, Self: A person should make a request to register to vote, and not be automatically registered.; Christine Maceri Genge, Self: Motor voter and other such laws that automatically register new drivers as voters is fraught with problems. Many states give drivers licenses to non-citizens who are not eligible to vote. Auto enrolling may be confusing to non-citizens.; Erin Goodman, Self: Automatic voter registration is sound policy that supports one of our most treasured rights. Localities should have the freedom to conduct elections however they choose, including safe, legal, automatic voter registration.; Gayle Peters, Self: Require prospective voters to register in person with proper identification. It appears is very necessary legislation!; Stephen Harris, Self: Should eliminate Motor Voter requests. Voter registration should require documentation showing valid citizenship!;

Catherine Kossler, Self: As a Arizona resident, I do not want people registered who don't ask to be registered. This is a no-brainer. Everyone needs to request their own voter registration.; Kelsey Wilkes, Self: Wow, this is the best way to get the most people registered in one stop . This is GOOD; Nikki Colletti, Self: Again, common sense! You cannot just register someone to vote without them making a request and having their eligibility vetted; Jennifer Arroyo, Self: Election integrity matters. This is one small step in the right direction.; Shannon Sharma, Self: Voters should not be registered unless they would like to be and request that to be done. I thought this was common sense. The opposite opens the door to fraud. I'd even support a lawful punishment for those who register individuals w/o consent.; Frances Ryan, Self: Election integrity now!; Carol Ayotte, Self: No "motor voter" like California. Legal citizens that want to exercise their right to vote should proactively register to vote.; Sue Unverricht, Self: This is just common sense. Only register people who affirmatively request.; David Dowdy, Self: Are you serious?; Richard Burke, Self: VOTE yes!; Olaf Braun, Self: YES VOTE!; John Burke, Self: Agree! Pass into law; Donald Hiatt, Self: Really, you have to think about this?; Francesca Pardes, Self: There should not be a ban on automatic voter registration. The information citizens provide when applying for government services is electronically transmitted to election officials who verify their eligibility to vote; it is seamless and secure.; Daniel Riordan, Self: Roadways not roadblocks. We are all in this together so lets act like it.; Marcia Tingley, Self: Why are we trying to make it harder to vote? This is the fundamental right of ALL U.S. citizens.; kathleen mayer, Self: seriously?! a first amendment infringement on public officials who try to encourage people to vote by asking if they are registered or would like to be. No one is forced to answer or participate.; Rivko Knox, Self: My fingers are trying of typing the words 'another voter suppression bill' based on totally fabricated stories of voter fraud!!; Peter Bengtson, Self: This is another attempt to reduce the number of voters. Everyone living in should get registered. Volunteers are working hard in election years to get people registered.; Alicia Klassen, Self: It is not a crime to register someone to vote. I'm against all of the voter suppression bills.; Oris Friesen, Self: Quit trying to make it harder to vote.; Geneva Haber, Self: It seems that when legislators don't like the outcome of certain elections their response is to make it harder for people to vote.; Beatriz Urrea, Self: This is yet one more attempt to limit our voting rights.; Alisa McMahon, Self: Wholly unnecessary.; Michael Fflis, Self: Another voter suppression measure - it will impede getting voters to participate and vote.; Karen Syversen, Self: Public employees should be able to register voters. If the person doesn't want to register, then they won't. Let's give them credit for free will.; Wes Oswald, Self: Lawmakers in statehouses nationwide have already filed triple the number of voting rights attacks they did last year, using wildly inflated allegations of voter fraud to justify making it harder to vote.; Dianne Post, Self: blatant voter suppression.; Susan Bickel, Self: just another effort at voter suppression.; Elizabeth Putnam-Hidalgo, Self: STOP suppressing the vote. Try supporting ideas that voters support, instead of trying to find ways to lessen the number of voters.; Sandy Whitley, Self: Allows government to register people to vote if they affirmatively request it. What does affirmatively request mean? This appears to be an impediment to automatic voter registration, thus limiting voting. Voter suppression bad, more voting good.; jacqueline Johnson, Self: This is a voter suppress bill.; Ruthanna Battilana, Self: Sounds like a solution in search of a problem.; Margaret Baca, Self: More anti-voter garbage from Jake Hoffman. Disgraceful.; Bryna Koch, Self: Oppose this bill! Another attempt at voter suppression and extreme overreach by the legislature, shameful.; Bridget Bellavigna, Self: More voter suppression. This must be Rep Hoffman's specialty!; Cathleen Bohnlein, Self: Voter suppression!; Denise van Zijll, Self: No to voter suppression! Stop; Barbara Oliver, Self: This is an attack on voting rights pure and simple! Why does the legislature continue an attack on the most sacred right a voter has? DEFEAT THIS BILL, PLEASE!; Cynthia Correll, Self: This is against our democracy; Susan Morris, Self: Rep Hoffman, what the heck?! Let the people register. Let the people vote.; Stefanie Richardson, Self: The goal in a democratic republic should be to register as many voters as possible, not the opposite. What the heck?; Susan Penner, Self: Automatic voter registration would be a step forward for AZ.; Karen VanAllen, Self: Another shameful bill; Sharon Gerrard, Self: Continued attacks on voting rights. Widespread voting fraud has NO proof. No reason for this.; Christa Sadler,

Self: Why? Some people don't know to ask. It is never a bad thing to remind people to register to vote. Remember, Republicans need to be reminded to register as well. Register everyone to vote at birth!; Brenda Nelson, Self: STOP trying to suppress our votes, AZGOP. OPPOSE!; Jackie Rich, Self: This bill discourages outreach to register voters, contrary to a healthy democracy.; Sarah Fanning, Self: LD17, 85248; Karen Randolph, Self: Another stab at voter suppression!; Peter Coston, Self: don't need this type of voter suppression legislation. Again, is there evidence that this has led to voter fraud?; Lawrence Peters, Self: CONTEMPTABLE EFFORT TO IMPEDE VOTER REGISTRATION. AZ STATE R's REELECTED WITH VOTE HIKES OVER 2018. END THE PARTISAN REPUBLICAN ASSAULT ON VOTER RIGHTS & VOTER ACCESS.; Elisabeth Haskell, Self: The last administration's top election experts called the 2020 vote "the most secure in history", yet AZ legislators are still trying to delegitimize the November election & suppress the vote. Why all the attacks on voter participation?; Linda Reichert, Self: In a democracy, we should be making it easier to vote, not harder.; Marlene Verdery, Self: VOTER SUPPRESSION! Ridiculous! Anyone passionate about voter registration should be able to ask people if they want to register.; Lynn Ashby, Self: Only allows government to register people to vote if they affirmatively request it. Another GOP voter suppression effort by erecting another impediment to automatic voter registration, thus limiting voting. ALL VOTING LAWS MUST BE CITIZEN INITIATED.; Linda Edwards, Self: Another bill in search of a problem?; Carole Flores, Self: As long as someone is eligible, another should be allowed to register that person to vote.; Elizabeth McClure, Self: Why the constant focus on punishment for registering voters? Time to move on and propose legislation that actually meets the NEEDS of your constituents. Maybe start with food and shelter needs.; Suellen LeMay, Self: Public employees do not give up their right to participate in voting related activities. Registration is not on its face a partisan effort and should be made more, not less universal.; Cheryl Colan, Self: I oppose all attempts by the AZGOP to suppress voting or make registering to vote more difficult. Work harder to lead with policies people support rather than to disallow people from voting.; Andrew Flach, Self: We should be expanding voters and voting, not restricting it; Ryan Anderson, Self: In a democracy, we want more people to vote. Make it easier for people to register, not harder!; Susan Anderson, Self: Another case of making it harder to register people to vote. Interesting that it is always Republicans introducing these bills.; Jennifer Jones, Self: This is a ridiculous bill. Why on earth are legislators spending time and energy on a bill to eliminate something that does not exist? Let's spend our time and money giving more Arizonans a voice in our government, not less.; Debra Cabell, Self: More voter suppression.; Carol Poole, Self: Another nice try at voter suppression.; Gary Evans, Self: Voter suppression.; Lynda Dean, Self: Automatic voter registration is a great idea. Voting registration should be easy for every eligible to vote.; Ellen M. Ferreira, Self: This just makes it harder for people to vote and puts employees at risk.; Donna Walkuski, Self: This bill makes opt-out the state's default choice for its citizens to vote. How does this serve democratic values? Do you really want to send this message?; Paula Toffolo, Self: Banning public employees from registering someone to vote seems and exceptionally ridiculous proposition. Vote NO; Penny Boone, Self: This bill is another attack on voting rights. It is a voter suppression effort. It is anti-democratic. I deeply oppose this bill.; Mary Darling, Self: Then who does register voters?; Margaret Adams, Self: Another bad bill from the very long list of voter suppression bills this session. Please do not pass!; Mary Ellen Cunningham, Self: Please do not create impediments to voting.; Marilyn Childs, Self: More efforts to disenfranchise voters.; Greer Warren, Self: More coordinated attack on voters' rights; Carol Kennedy, Self: This is an attack on public employees working to register voters. Awful!; Kathleen Dubbs, Self: voter suppression; Sue Thorne, Self: Hoffman! you have voter suppression attacks on your diseased mind! You & your radical right wing coconspirators base your claims of fraud on lies. Wake up! This is a Democracy. We want ALL people to vote. That way we can rid ourselves of extremists; Mary-Jeanne Fincher, Self: We need more voter registration, not these punitive measures to punish anyone who tries to help.; Lynnda Evans, Self: More voter suppression; Roxanna Kearns, Self: Do NOT ban public employees from registering someone to vote unless the person specifically asks to be registered.; Jo Ann Caruthers, Self: Why? Let's make it easier to vote, not harder.; Edna Weigel, Self: stop voter suppression!; Bruce Sheffer, Self: Please vote no; Rebecca Haynes, Self: STOP putting obstacles in the path of voting!; Mary Nelson, Self: Why are you so afraid of voters; Wendy Anderson, Self:

Registering voters is a good thing. Voting is a civic responsibility and should be made as easy as possible. Elections should be won by promoting good public policy that people support- not through voter suppression.; Kirstin Woodburne, Self: I oppose this bill that attempts to suppress voting in Arizona.; Candice Fremouw, Self: it should be an automatic with a Drivers License being applied Same as an organ donor Keep it simple to involve more voters not less; Abby Brill, Self: Why shouldn't public employees help people register to vote? We should be making it easier rather than harder to register and to vote. VOTE NO!; Charlotte Lis, Self: Our goal should be for everyone to vote. Continuing to guard the avenues for voting with roadblocks is not in the best interest of Arizona or our flu try.; Leslie Hunten, Self: This is another attempt to suppress the vote. Republicans are really paranoid!; Elizabeth Brauer, Self: We need to make registering and voting as easy as possible.; Mary Gaudio, Self: More roadblocks to voting is NOT the answer. If you don't like an election's outcome, field a better candidate in the next one.; Don Howard, Self: This would not hold up in any court of law.; Nancy Norton, Self: Another voter suppression bill; Julia Wills, Self: Another ban of something that makes no sense. One more step down the VOTER Suppression road.; Roy Verdery, Self: Voter suppression bill! We need more voters, not fewer, to protect our democratic republic. Public employees are Arizona citizens and have as much right to register voters and participate in registration drives as any other citizen.; Carol Garnett, Self: More people need to be registered to vote, not less. State employees work for us and they should be offering voter registration and not restricting communication about it.; Jennifer Dawson, Self: MORE voter suppression.; Rita Day, Self: This is an attack on voting rights! It's VOTER SUPPRESSION on Steroids! Democracy works best when all people vote. The more people that vote, the better our democracy is performing. This bill discourages public employees from registering voters.; Leda DeVlieger, Self: This looks like another attempt to reduce the number of voters. Again, bills should be put in place to make both registering to vote and voting easier, not put barriers to that in place.; Patricia Edelen, Self: Stop making it harder to vote and attacking our voting rights; James Stein, Self: another impediment to automatic voter registration; David Williams, Self: more voter suppression; Diane Nevill, Self: Why are lawmakers trying to stop people from registering to vote? Banning public employees from asking if they would like to register to vote is beyond ridiculous.; Diane McQueen, Self: And again, This is bill is just another way to suppress the Constitutional rights to vote. Shame. btw: I am a registered Arizona voter who lives in AZ and am not a bot.; Erin McCamish, Self: Make it easier to vote and register to vote, not harder.; Kathleen Bower, Self: You should be making it easier for citizens to vote. What about seniors?; Mary Keerins, Self: More voter suppression!; Cynthia Wagner, Self: Voter suppression; Laura Terech, Self: I'm horrified at the number of bills aimed at making it harder to vote. Voter fraud is extremely rare, we should be focused on making it easier for everyone to participate in democracy.; Deborah Howard, Self: AZ should provide voter registration notices to every eligible voter. In the mail. Unsolicited. It should establish their right to vote unless they opt out. This is democracy. Citizens eligible to vote should be automatically registered. No on 2793.; Kathleen Corley, Self: This is yet another attempt to reduce the size of the electorate. Shame on legislators who waste time coming up with ways to make citizen participation more difficult, rather than easier.; Jacqueline Bauer, Self: Why is this legislature so, so focused on keeping voters from voting?; Nelson Morgan, Self: Everyone who is eligible to vote should be registered.; Jane Atkins, Self: simple voter suppression; Joseph Alexander, Self: Any effort to attempt to discourage citizen participation in their government by making it harder to register to vote is an effort to inhibit good government.; Robert Maier, Self: Voting is a responsibility as well as a right. We should require citizens to be registered to vote.; Peggy McMahon, Self: AGAINST another bill for voter suppression. Unconstitutional. Make it easier to vote, not harder. AGAINST; John Gleason, Self: stop with the voter suppression!!!!; William Hamilton, Self: Along with bills HB2792 and 2794, this bill is a totally transparent attempt at VOTER SUPPRESSION. Why are you guys so intent in attacking our fundamental rights!? Oh, yeah, you can't win on the basis of your policies. We see you! And we WILL VOT; Dana Garcia, Self: Another voter suppression bill.; Samantha Meier, Self: Rep. Hoffman demonstrates again his disdain for the will of the voters by trying to make it harder to register to vote in Arizona. Anti-democratic and shameful.; Jennifer Turrell, Self: Bills like this one are motivated by the wildly inflated allegations of voter fraud in the 2020 election that were disproven over and over again in courts all over this country. Stop creating barriers that make it more difficult for people to vote.; Marilyn Bernhardt, Self: Why regulate where no problem has been shown? And this could discourage registration in perfectly innocent situations.; Marjorie Shavlik, Self: This is nothing more than another attempt to make it harder to vote.; Margaret Tinsley, Self: don't make it harder to vote; Jan Perozeni Corbus, Self: Another attack on voters; another attack to make it more difficult to vote in Arizona.; Edith Dillon, Self: We do not need bills that make it harder to register voters! A functioning democracy needs more voters not fewer.; Stephanie Bader, Self: Voter suppression comes in so many guises. Stop it!; Gabriella Cazares-Kelly, Self: This bill would prevent the possibility of future automatic voter registration. While Arizona does not currently use such a system, I believe we need to move toward this. Automatic voter reg is one less barrier between the voter and the ballot box.; Heather McLean, Self: We should all be encouraging our friends and neighbors to register to vote. Not wasting time on bills like this one.; Marilyn Murov, Self: Why ban public employees from registering someone to vote unless they specifically ask? Why does Mr. Hoffman want to suppress voter registration and voting ? this is another bad bill that suppresses voters voices.; Cheryl Purvis, Self: Stop already with the voter suppression attempts!; Kim Hoover, Self: Voting is a right, and every eligible person should automatically be granted that right.; Julian Donahue, Self: Yet another abhorrent attempt to make voting more difficult.; Paula Schlusberg, Self: another attack on voter registration, another attempt to suppress voting; Elizabeth Studstill, Self: Stop making it harder for people to vote.; Theresa Ryan, Self: Makes it harder to voter, another voter suppression bill.; RITA DEPUYDT, Self: Has there ever been any cases where a government employee has registered someone to vote without them requesting it?; Karen Falkenstrom, Self: I oppose voter suppression in all forms.; Virginia Simontacchi, Self: I was automatically registered to vote in Arizona in 2009 when I received my new drivers license; Teresa Gerschutz, Self: Oppose! Stop hindering our right to vote.; Kathy Florence, Self: There is no need for this restrictive bill.; Lisa Maczura, Self: Not this one either. If some legislators spent their time listening to citizens & coming up with good ideas to help them instead of thinking of ways to suppress turnout, AZ would be much better off.; Elizabeth Craig, Self: This bill puts hurdles in the way of citizen voter participation.; Julie Pindzola, Self: Please defeat this mean spirited bill. Of course election officials/staff should be able to facilitate voter registration in flexible ways. Do not hem them into their offices.; Jeanne Devine, Self: A viable democracy requires that all citizens become active participants and vote.; Joel Edman, AZ ADVOCACY NETWORK: Waste of time; Laurie Nerat, Self: STOP trying to make it harder to vote. This is voter suppression and we should be making it easier for everyone to vote - not harder!; leadawn anderton, Self: why suppress the vote?; Vanessa Goldberg, Self: Jake, are you the champion of voter suppression now??

Adriane Wollaston, Self: Judicial capriciousness is never a good thing. And in keeping with the philosophy behind HB2302, changes are never impact free to the persons responsible for implementing them.; Jered Skousen, Self: An officer or agent of this state, a political subdivision of this state or any other governmental entity in this state may not modify any deadline, filing date, submittal date or other election-related date that is provided for in statute; Bill Blewster, Self: Again, common sense legislation to make voting officials follow the statutes. VOTE YES!; Barbara Blewster, Self: We all know years ahead when elections will be, there is no need to change it. Vote YES. Thank you.; Christine Maceri Genge, Self: Politicians and bureaucrats taking power they do not legally have into their hands is WRONG.; Gayle Peters, Self: Deadlines, filing dates and other election-related should not be allowed unless provided for in statute!; Stephen Harris, Self: Only the legislature should be able to modify election requirements.; Catherine Kossler, Self: As a Arizona resident, I support this bill wholeheartedly! No election related dates should be modified without consent of the legislature.; Nikki Colletti, Self: Deadlines should not be randomly changed; Jennifer Arroyo, Self: Necessary because of the events leading up to the 2020 election.; Shannon Sharma, Self: No dates in statute should be able to be modified. Everyone at all levels need to follow the law. If the statute says a specified date, it should not be changed. Those who break the law should be held accountable.; Carol Ayotte, Self: Established election deadlines should not be changed, processes and procedures should be set up for the established deadlines regardless of the circumstances. If deadlines are approaching, get things done early, you know the deadline is forthcoming; Sue Unverricht, Self: The statutes must prevail in election related procedures.; Richard Burke, Self: YES.....prohibit; Olaf Braun, Self: YES!; Jason Trevino, Self: no emergency changes this is set in stone; madison burr, Self: This is law do not allow modifications; John Burke, Self: YES vote; Donald Hiatt, Self: Didn't you learn your lesson the last time around the block. That's why we have deadlines.; Linda Busam, Self: Fully support HB2794 to add to Election integrity!; Daniel Riordan, Self: I believe the courts not the politicians have the call on this one.; kathleen mayer, Self: jake "election misinformation" hoffman sure likes to make criminals of folks who only want to help people to vote.; Rivko Knox, Self: Bills should address real, on going issues. What is the issue here? Why is this bill needed?; Peter Bengtson, Self: Bad idea. You never know what emergency may come up requiring deadline modification.; Alicia Klassen, Self: I'm against any attempt to charge anyone with a class 6 felony when a court ordered a change to the voter registration deadline. We were in the throes of a pandemic, so this is govt. overreach.; Erin Goodman, Self: This proposal would put officials in the position of being forced to choose between complying with court orders that require deadlines to be changed, or complying with this statute. NO; Alisa McMahon, Self: Have we learned nothing from running elections during a pandemic?; Michael Fiffis, Self: What about special circumstances, like a safety measures due to the COVID-19 pandemic, that interfere with deadlines? This will serve to suppress votes in such a case.; Claudia Bloom, Self: Voter suppression by Republicans; Karen Syversen, Self: Modifying election data is not a class 6 felony.; Dianne Post, Self: Violation of home rule, and local control and everything you are allegedly for.; Sandy Whitley, Self: Prohibits elections officials, officers of state, local govts from modifying deadlines related to elections. Short-sighted as there may be special conditions and needs, especially during this time pandemic, that require modifying deadline to vote.; Margaret Baca, Self: ANTI-VOTER garbage.; Bryna Koch, Self: Oppose this bill! Another attempt to create limits on eligible Arizona voters!; Bridget Bellavigna, Self: This would put officials in the position of being forced to choose between complying with court orders that require deadlines to be changed, or complying with this statute.; Denise van Zijl, Self: Voter suppression. Stop; Barbara Oliver, Self: This bill would force state officials to choose between court orders requiring deadlines to be changed, or complying with this bill. It's another attack on voting by the same representative!; Susan Morris, Self: Rep Hoffman, you seem to be on a crusade to discourage voting. Strange from an elected official.; Sharon Gerrard, Self: Put officials in conflict as to who to obey courts or this rule. Not needed.; Christa Sadler, Self: Felonies? Really? Why are you criminalizing our voting system? This is absurd. We need to REMOVE obstacles to voting in elections, no add them.; Brenda Nelson, Self: The election system works whether you agree with the outcome or not. STOP trying to suppress our votes, AZGOP. OPPOSE!; Jackie Rich, Self: This bill adds unnecessary restrictions related to elections.; Sarah Fanning, Self: LD17, 85248; Stacy Augustine, Self: Attempt to impose rigid rules that do not allow for exigencies; probably would fail on separation of powers grounds. Anti-voter.; Peter Coston, Self: In times of emergency it is sometimes necessary to amend rules reasonably to accommodate those involved. It may not be possible to get legislative approval in time for some deadlines in emergencies. This as an attempt to suppress voting.; Lawrence Peters, Self: EVIDENCE OF NO FRAUD IS VOTE INCREASES OVER 2108 THAT REELECTED AZ STATE R'S GOT IN NOVEMBER. END THE REPUBLICAN ASSAULT ON VOTER RIGHTS & VOTER ACCESS. Work to get us COVID relief & go beyond jurisdiction to get Arizonans the vaccine.; Elisabeth Haskell, Self: We're still in a pandemic - but some legislators want to make it a class 6 felony for an election official to obey a court order modifying any statutory election-related date. The result? Further suppressing the vote during an emergency. Shameful.; Linda Reichert, Self: In a democracy, we should be making it easier to vote, not harder.; Marlene Verdery, Self: Stupid.; Lynn Ashby, Self: Prohibits elections officials of the state or local government from modifying deadlines related to elections. Very short-sighted as there may be special conditions and needs that require modification of these deadlines. More bad/partisan GOP policy.; Linda Edwards, Self: Bill in search of a problem?; Carole Flores, Self: This would put officials in the position of being forced to choose between complying with court orders that require deadlines to be changed, or complying with this statute; Elizabeth McClure, Self: This is aimed at what happened during a time of crisis across our country, you know, the PANDEMIC! It is unnecessary legislation, a waste of time and taxpayer money. Move on, please, to more pressing needs, such as raising unemployment benefits.; Cheryl Colan, Self: Strongly opposed.; Andrew Flach, Self: Expand voting instead of restricting it; Debra Cabell, Self: This past year makes the case why we need flexibility.; Carol Poole, Self: This is incompatible with complying with related court orders.; Ellen M. Ferreira, Self: Anti democratic; Penny Boone, Self: I oppose this bill which is another effort to make voting more difficult in Az. It is undemocratic and clearly aimed at suppressing voting.; Anne Leota Hart, Self: Another bill to make it more difficult to vote. A court-ordered change to the voter registration deadline was made in 2020. This bill would put officials in the position of being forced to choose between complying with the courts and this.; Margaret Adams, Self: Another bad bill from the very long list of voter suppression bills this session. Please do not pass!; Greer Warren, Self: More coordinated attack on voters' rights; Carol Kennedy, Self: When a date is changed by the court, it should be honored without a penalty imposed by the state.; Diane Leischow, Self: stop making it impossible for anyone other than a republican to vote; Kathleen Dubbs, Self: a felony? Really?; Sue Thorne, Self: Hoffman-more voter suppression in the face of surging pandemic? There was a court ordered directive to change the voter reg. deadline date in 2020. This statute would conflict with that reasonable order. Stop suppressing the vote Mr. Radical Repub!; Mary-Jeanne Fincher, Self: Stop trying to intimidate county recorders and others trying to do their jobs!; Roxanna Kearns, Self: Do NOT make modifying any election-related date in statute a class 6 felony.; William S. Get reall; Edna Weigel, Self: stop voter suppression!; Rebecca Haynes, Self: Stop with the voter suppression tactics!; Wendy Anderson, Self: Special circumstances require special responses and adjustments- the pandemic required this and the next pandemic may also require this. Dont paint yourself into a box with overzealous rules- especially ones designed to suppress voting.; Irwin Sheer, Self: Yet another voter suppression bill. One might think that our legislators have nothing better to do than to try and keep people from voting...; Kirstin Woodburne, Self: I oppose this bill that attempts to suppress voter registration in Arizona.; Eileen Hollowell, Self: Legislature should quit processing voting bills that are bad policy. 2020 election is over and it was free and fair.; Crystal Bazarnic, Self: There is no reason for this bill. Flexibility is important to be able to give the easiest and best access to voters. Please vote no.; Gary Knopp, Self: Strongly oppose; Candice Fremouw, Self: if this had been in effect it would have prohibited voters from voting in the presidential election We need more voter participation not less; Mary Benin, Self: If a court orders a change in voter registration deadline because of a pandemic or natural disaster, the officials would have to choose between violating a court order and complying with this law. This law is a bad idea!; Leslie Hunten, Self: This is another attempt at voter suppression. Vote no!; Elizabeth Brauer, Self: Silly bill and unnecessary.; Mary Gaudio, Self: This pandemic should have enlightened us of our need to be flexible, nimble, and problem-solvers. Instead, you're offering up bills that do nothing but hamstring officials' ability to protect voters' rights.; Julia Wills, Self: This ties the hand of any democratic or republican Sec of State. Be careful what you approve of, in case it comes back on your party.; Roy Verdery, Self: Election deadlines must be modified due to court decisions or other unexpected events or circumstances.; Carol Garnett, Self: There are unusual circumstances when deadlines should be changed. (weather, pandemic, cyber attack) Usually extended and voters benefit. Leave it to the professionals.; Jennifer Dawson, Self: Unnecessary and absurd. More voter suppression.; Leda DeVlieger, Self: Once again, please stop trying to put barriers in place to reduce voting in AZ. I am an LD12 voter and I strongly oppose this bill.; Margaret Lacey, Self: Scientists say Covid-19 is just the first of what might be many pandemics. Emergency changes to voting procedures may be necessary in the future and must not be punished by a felony charge.; James Stein, Self: there may be special conditions and needs, especially during this time of pandemic, that requires modification of these deadlines; Diane Nevill, Self: This law would make it a class 6 felony if election officials responded to a court-ordered change that was not in line with a state statute.; Christina Early, Self: Voter suppression; Diane McQueen, Self: Wow. Another proposed law that aims to suppress voting rights. This is getting a bit ridiculous. btw: I am a registered Arizona voter who lives in AZ and am not a bot.; Erin McCamish, Self: Flexibility is sometimes needed.; Kathleen Bower, Self: Why undercut the power to adjust to catastrophes?; Mary Keerins, Self: Allow the SOS to set appropriate deadlines.; Cynthia Wagner, Self: Voter suppression; Deborah Howard, Self: Life happens. Were you paying attention last year? State and local elections officials reacted appropriately to protect the sacred right of citizens to fully participate in the Presidential election. Please vote no on the wrong-headed bill.; Kathleen Corley, Self: This bill is intended to hamstring election officials. There is no legitimate reason to criminalize making changes to election calendars for due cause.; Jacqueline Bauer, Self: Just unnecessary.; Nelson Morgan, Self: There are circumstances in which an election-related date needs to be changed. This should not be criminalized.; Julianne Hurst, Self: Who hates voters so much? Who wants to make it harder than it already is to vote? Hmmmm. I wonder who.; Peggy McMahon, Self: AGAINST. Unconstitutional voter suppression by using arbitrary and harsh deadlines. Unconstitutional AGAINST.; John Gleason, Self: MY oh MY!! This is the most unAmerican bill to come up this session. STOP IT, PLEASE; William Hamilton, Self: A FELONY, for chrissake. You people really are venal and little minded. Another transparent voter suppression bill. Why don't you get on with governing for the people of AZ?; Dan Roskey, Self: We don't need new felonies.; Samantha Meier, Self: Rep. Hoffman demonstrates again his disdain for democratic processes by refusing to allow for necessary changes to elections during a global pandemic. Shameful.; Jennifer Turrell, Self: This bill has the potential to put officials in the position of having to choose between complying with a court ordered change of deadline and complying with this statute. It is unnecessary and onerous. I oppose this bill. Please vote no.; Marjorie Shavlik, Self: A punitive response to the court-ordered change to the voter registration deadline in 2020 that put officials in the position of being forced to choose between complying with court orders deadline change, or complying with statute.; Karolyn Switzer, Self: This would make it more difficult, if not impossible, to respond to changes in circumstances.; Margaret Tinsley, Self: don't make it harder to vote; Carissa Sipp, Self: So this makes it a felony to comply with a court order. Why would one ever think this bill would be something they could vote 'yes' on?; Russell Tucker, Self: Court-ordered changes to deadlines must be followed.; Barbara Nelson, Self: NO WAY; Marilyn Murov, Self: This is likely a response to the court-ordered change to the voter registration deadline in 2020, during the pandemic. We will have other pandemics or emergencies that may need this same response. Why is Mr. Hoffman so intent on suppressing the vote?; Cheryl Purvis, Self: Would put election officials in potentially untenable positions, having to choose between 2 required alternatives. Give those folks a break!; Theresa Ryan, Self: Oppose; Kathy Florence, Self: There is no need for this restrictive bill.; Lisa Maczura, Self: No.; Julie Pindzola, Self: Please do not over correct . The pandemic justified generous mail-in balloting, We needed that and it worked.; Jeanne Devine, Self: Life is not perfect - and when necessary voting deadlines must be changed to adapt.; Laurie Nerat, Self: STOP trying to make it harder to vote. This is voter suppression and we should be making it easier for everyone to vote - not harder!; Hans Buhrer, Self: Dimwit nonsense; Vanessa Goldberg, Self: Yeah, Jake the champion of voter suppression is at it again!

Support HCR2015; Ron Hooper, Self, US Term Limits: Four-in-five Arizona voters (85%) want their state representatives and state senator to vote in favor of an amendment proposing term limits on Congress (McL2020). HCR2015 fulfills the will of the Az voter. Vote yes.; Barbara Blewster, Self: The Constitution does not need amending. An Art. V for any reason is a way for the Deep State to get rid of the Electoral College, modify the 2nd Amendment; not to mention changing the structure to eliminate the checks and balances enshrined in it.; kathleen mayer, Self: since the Az. Legislature when to term limits, the legislature has become increasingly run by lobbyists - that is not good for democracy.; Jane Adrian, Self: content altered; Rivko Knox, Self: An Article V Convention cannot by it's very nature we limited to one topic so this literally opens up a 'Pandor's Box."; Judith Simons, Self: 1st, no to a Constitutional Convention that could result in utter chaos. 2nd, no to term limits as a solution to our current partisan divisiveness. Increasing voter participation & education is a better solution.; Steven Linder, Self: very bad idea; Joseph Witt Jr., Self: This is not just about term limits. This bill will open the entire Constitution and changes can be made to take away freedoms we already have. Article V conventions are never about one subject. There are other ways to make term limits.; Ken Ahlberg, Self: Terrible plan, which has little to do with term limits! Vote this down!; Judith Ahlberg, Self: Not about term limits, but bigger terrible threats to our Constitution!; Bill Blewster, Self: An Article V Convention is a dangerous idea. So is Term Limits. Do you want leg. staff to run things even more than they already do? Do you want 1/3rd of Congress to be lame ducks every 2 years without accountability to voters? VOTE NO!; Bonnie Barker, Self: Liar, liar, liar!; Jennifer Wellsman, Self: Companion bill to SB1025; Susan Bickel, Self: for the fourth time, NO!; Barry Spinka, Self: Let's not forget that the 1st one was to amend the Articles of Confederation. That didn't go as planned and this could be the same.; George Moriarty, Self: Conventions can't be limited to specific amendments. That said, nothing will come out of the convention if it happens. The right wants term limits and balanced budgets; the left wants to eliminate the electoral college and repeal the 2nd A. NINO!; Bryna Koch, Self: Oppose this bill.; Bridget Bellavigna, Self: Absolutely not! This group of GOP crazies are the last group on earth that I would trust with a constitutional convention!; Cathleen Bohnlein, Self: No constitutional conventions needed; Barbara Oliver, Self: WE DEFINITELY DON'T NEED A CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION, ESPECIALLY NOT FOR TERM LIMITS! Besides, there is no way to insure that a convention would adhere to the stated intent. Legislator need expertise and experience! I am against term limits.; Susan Morris, Self: Constitutional conventions are VERY risky, and imposing term limits is a bad idea so especially not worth the risk of having it go sideways and end up doing something stupid.; Rebecca Olsen McHood, Self: Conventions put the constitution at risk. The last time a convention was held the Articles of Confederation were tossed and the Constitution adopted. The same could happen with a convention - the entire constitution could be tossed. This is dangerous; Robert Jeanne, Self: We The People already have a process for "Term Limits", its called ELECTIONS.....; Sharon Gerrard, Self: No way to limit convention to it's stated purposes.; Christa Sadler, Self: There is no way to limit a Constitutional Convention to the stated intent, so we will end up with a whole new branch of government. We do not need this additional oversight!; Brenda Nelson, Self: OPPOSE; Jackie Rich, Self: According to Supreme Court Justice Antonin Scalia, there is no way to limit a convention to the stated intent. NO VOTE FRAUD; END VOTER ACCESS & RIGHTS ATTACKS; Linda Edwards, Self: Could be unintended consequences.; Carole Flores, Self: Lobbyists and staff would end up with ore experience & expertise than elected officials; J. Scalia argued there is no way to limit a convention to the stated intent which could result in a "runaway" convention.; Kimberlee McClure, Self: There are no limits to the convention, and term limits would give more power to lobbyists.; Elizabeth McClure, Self: How many times do we constituents need to say NO to this idea of a constitutional convention in order to require term limits? This is a foolish method, an inappropriate means of accomplishing something that isn't even necessary to being with!; Cheryl Colan, Self: I oppose this bill on the ground that a constitutional convention cannot be limited to the proposed purpose. I also think term limits are a bad idea while we have elections. And I don't trust THIS legislature any further than I can throw y'all. NO.; Andrew Flach, Self: Term limits are terrible!; Carol Poole, Self: Wide-open free-for-all idea. And, term limits aren't even a good idea.; Lynne Brasher, Self: there is no way to limit a convention to the stated intent. We could end up with a "runaway" convention, just as the 1787 convention; Penny Boone, Self: Constitutional opponents (including deceased Supreme Court justice Antonin Scalia) argue there is no way to limit a convention to the stated intent. I oppose. I oppose.; William Kelly, Self: Dumb and incredibly dangerous idea. We already have term limits - they're called elections.; Anne Leota Hart, Self: We do not need a constitutional convention as it is highly likely in these times, it will be misused. This is at least the fourth consecutive year this proposal has been introduced. Stop bad bills please.; Mary Darling, Self: A solution in search of problem, please focus on real people's problems.; Margaret Adams , Self: NO. Never a constitutional convention. No way to limit the convention to its' stated intent. Please do not pass this bill.; Greer Warren, Self: Last thing I want is a runaway const convention; Frank Copple, Self: Represenative Toma, I think we ought to term limit you.; Diane Leischow, Self: here we go with a runaway convention again; Sue Thorne, Self: Calling a Constitutional Conv. is a serious matter. As Republican, Antonio Scalia has said, " Beware! they can become runaway events for establishing other unagreed to purposes." It takes experience to legislate. I'd like to see extremists go, but, NO; Jo Ann Caruthers, Self: Bad idea.; Dawn Schumann, TEAMSTERS LOCAL UNION 104: The constitution does NOT need to be altered. This would open up Pandora's box and could alter what should NOT be. VOTE NO; Candace Wilkinson, Self: Experience in government doesn't = corruption. It may actually increase the ability of office holders to more effectively govern!; Rebecca Haynes, Self: We need legislators with experience, not newbies who can be manipulated. This also risks a change in government, which should not be accomplished by this means.; Wendy Anderson, Self: Constitutional conventions can get go off the planned rails- be careful what you ask for. Oppose this please.; Irwin Sheer, Self: There is no way to limit a constitutional convention for the purpose of creating term-limits. Our country is so divided right now that this could do much more harm than good.; John Neville, Self: waste of time and money; Margaret Nichols, Self: We will wind up with perpetual newbie legislators being run by their staffs.; Jessica Kitterman, Self: Governing requires experience in order to be effective. Instituting term limits ensures that lobbyists and staff possess the bulk of the expertise. It turns legislators into perpetual newbies while others pull their strings. Oppose.; Candice Fremouw, Self: No! There is no way a convention will accomplish a single agenda item. It will escalate into pure chaos; Margaret Owen, Self: We voters already have term limits for legislators in the form of elections. I do not support a call for a constitutional convention. It would simply end up limiting legislators' experience/expertise and giving too much power to long-term lobbyists.; Mary Benin, Self: Constitutional conventions are dangerous. They can go beyond original intent. NO!; Charlotte Lis, Self: No constitutional convention.; Elizabeth Brauer, Self: bad idea to have a constitutional convention,; Mary Gaudio, Self: Let elections decide when someone needs to retire. We need a mixture of experience and new ideas to thrive.; Julia Wills, Self: It is not the place of the legislature to create term limits and create a Constitutional Convention which could easily get out of control. If the citizens of AZ want term limits we can produce a proposition.; Roy Verdery, Self: Dangerous bill which could result in a constitutional convention which destroyed The Constitution of the United States of America. Defend the Constitution!; Carol Garnett, Self: Convention can't be limited in scope so what are your other intentions. We can vote legislators out who don't do their job or propose bad bills.; Jennifer Dawson, Self: Absolutely not. Term limits guarantee that governing officials will always be new on the job, and inexperienced. Good governance requires experience over time.; Rita Day, Self: It is a very slippery slope to call a constitutional convention for the purpose of creating term limits. There is no way to limit a convention to the stated intent. Term limits aren't good because they turn legislators into perpetual NEWBIES!; Sandra Rizzo, Self: Can't limit Constitutional Convention to matter that opens it. Also, I support experience and being able to run on a record.; Diane Nevill, Self: No to the bill. You need experienced legislators, not lobbyists crafting bills.; Diane McQueen, Self: This is a ridiculous bill. btw: I am a registered Arizona voter who lives in AZ and am not a bot.; Erin McCamish, Self: Experience is a good thing!; Kathleen Bower, Self: Term limits bad. Remember Carl Hayden? Perhaps you're too young.; Bruce Flocken, Self: I strongly oppose this legislation. A constitutional convention for new term limits are not needed. Voters determine whether someone has done a good job and should stay in office or be removed for poor performance.; Mary Keerins, Self: No way to limit a constitutional convention. Oppose this!; Maureen Mandel, Self: No convention for term limits.; Peggy McMahon, Self: AGAINST; Marjorie Shavlik, Self: There is no way to limit such a convention to the stated intent.; Margaret Tinsley, Self: don't mess with the constitution; Jan Perozeni Corbus, Self: Turns legislators into inexperienced legislators...; Linda Wix, Self: Please OPPOSE this bill; Heather McLean, Self: A constitutional convention would not be limited to creating term limits. So No.; Marilyn Murov, Self: There is no way to limit a convention to the stated intent. We could end up with a "runaway" convention.; Paula Schlusberg, Self: A slippery slope: Constitution Conventions can get out of control, and term limits puts legislators too firmly in the grip of lobbyists, who have the experience & knowledge newly elected officials would lack.; Theresa Ryan, Self: This is the fourth consecutive year this proposal has been introduced. Give it up, it's a bad bill.; RITA DEPUYDT, Self: I oppose a constitutional convention for this. Is there another way to put term limits in place? I do support term limits depending on what they are. In CA they're serving 12 yrs total in both bodies.; Lisa Maczura, Self: No constitutional convention.; Andrea Ruston, Self: LD23 voter in zip 85258 who STRONGLY OPPOSES this measure. Term limits will not solve the problem you're seeking to address, and it is not a good idea to re-write the Constitution under ANY circumstances. Use the amendment process instead.; Bettina Aguilera, Self: No to constitutional convention, b/c it cannot be limited in scope. Also, this limits expertise and knowledge base. Perpetual new legislators may be manipulated by lobbyists.

Jere Fredenburgh, Self: Never should have been a simple majority...that is democracy, we are a republic. Quite frankly the referendum and initiative never s/b part of the Az Constitution.; Gary Johnson, Self: I support requiring a 60% vote for initiatives since I prefer laws to be enacted by the elected members of the legislature and the elected governor.; Stephen Harris, Self: We are a Republic. The "initiative" process is nothing more than "majority rules." We need to act like the Republic we are!; Catherine Kossler, Self: As a Arizona resident, I'm tired of initiatives funded by outsiders. Let's let the legislators do their jobs. However, a 60% majority would still offer the citizens a chance to have a voice if there are some bad apples not working for us.; Shannon Sharma, Self: We are a Constitutional Republic. NOT a democracy. We need to ensure that our laws stay true to that of a Constitutional Republic and not be lenient. We do not want to become a democracy!; Mary Grace Werner, Self: Do not want to speak in person on this bill.; Linda Busam, Self: Anything that changes AZ constitution should have a 60% supermajority.; Francesca Pardes, Self: The AZ Constitution, Article 2 Section 2, gives citizens strong powers. The ability to propose and enact initiatives leading to the enactment or repeal of AZ statutes should be implemented by a simple majority, equal to that of the legislature.; Daniel Riordan, Self: MSimple majority is public threshold, leave it alone please.; kathleen mayer, Self: this is our constitutional right. the founders did not require a supermajority and neither should this legislature. it is a blatant attempt to limit this right, because they only like democracy when it works for them; Rivko Knox, Self: There is a pattern. After the voters use Direct Democracy to pass something some Legislators disagree with , they try to limit this Constitutionally protected right!! No!!; Peter Bengtson, Self: Drop this bill in the trash.; Karen Michael, HVA, INC. DBA HUMANE VOTERS OF ARIZONA: HCR2016 adds a virtually insurmountable hurdle to citizen initiatives, our most effective tool for protecting animals. AZ's founding fathers specified that initiatives pass by a simple majority, as opposed to the unreasonable threshold in HCR2016.; Alicia Klassen, Self: The Arizona constitution allows citizens the right to put forward referendums and initiatives. I do not support any change to our constitution.; Betty Bengtson, Self: Would infringe on citizens' legislative rights given in the AZ constitution. Takes away an equal balance between the State Legislature, which would continue to enact legislation with a simple majority, and citizens' legislative rights.; Peggy Chaikin, Self: Dust is bad in all forms for people here in the desert. Please protect vulnerable people!; Geneva Haber, Self: Why should Arizona be ruled by the minority?; Bonnie Barker, Self: Not unless legislature wants to require 60 votes to pass their bills too; Beatriz Urrea, Self: This goes against democratic principles. Ironically, to put this measure on the ballot, lawmakers only need a simple majority of votes.; Alisa McMahon, Self: A voter's message to the legislature: Stop trying to kill voter initiatives and work on REAL problems instead.; Michael Fiflis, Self: Another effort to limit passage of ballot measures.; Wes Oswald, Self: This bill is designed to stifle the voices of voters.; Bryna Koch, Self: Oppose this bill. Contravenes Arizonans constitutionally protected right to engage in the initiative process.; Bridget Bellavigna, Self: So you're asking for permission to squelch our voices? No, I don't think so.; Charlie Silver, Self: Simple majority is fine.; Barbara Oliver, Self: I believe the Legislature should need a 60% vote to put this bill on the ballot! STOP ATTACKING VOTER INIATIVES!; Cynthia Correll, Self: Potential health violation due to valley fever and will contribute to poor air quality; Susan Morris, Self: Another anti-initiative bill. Why do you insist that citizens' majorities cannot determine the outcome of a vote when you do not require 60% to pass one of your own?; Susan Penner, Self: Power to the People!; Sharon Gerrard, Self: Makes it harder for voters to institute direct democracy such as citizen initiatives and referendums as enshrined in AZ constitution; Christa Sadler, Self: A supermajority should not be required for ballot measures. That means many initiatives will not pass, when they might even pass with just slightly less in a normal situation. You are taking the voice of the people away.; Brenda Nelson, Self: STOP trying to suppress our votes and our voice, AZGOP. OPPOSE!!; Jackie Rich, Self: Unnecessary restrictions on initiatives. Initiatives should be subject to same requirements for passage as bills.; Sarah Fanning, Self: Voters aren't stupid. LD17, 85248; Stacy Augustine, Self: Rather than do what voters want, certain legislators continue to imperiously impose their person will. Ironical, from the same people who say, "The Founders!" They would subvert Arizona Founders' clear support of direct democracy.; Peter Coston, Self: Please don't try to interfere in the will of voters with this law.; Lawrence Peters, Self: UNSCRUPULOUS ATTACK ON CITIZEN BALLOT INITIATIVES. PARTISAN, SHAME ON TD. Imposes bar which lawmakers avoid; their initiatives get on ballot with simple majority. TD reelected with 24,447 vote jump over 2018; a 52% increase. THERE WAS NO VOTE FRAUD!; Linda Edwards, Self: Don't step on my vote. I believe you work for we the people.; Carole Flores, Self: We should enable citizens to participate in ballot measures, not inhibit them. Ironically, to put this measure on the ballot, lawmakers only need a simple majority of votes.; Kimberlee McClure, Self: This is a bad idea, as shown by similar laws in other states.; Cheryl Colan, Self: This attempt to weaken AZ citizens' constitutional right to referendum, initiative and recall must not go forward. Oppose this bill and leave our constitution alone. Voters won't fall for it anyway.; Andrew Flach, Self: I am against all supermajority requirements because it enables a minority of voters to control policy; Ryan Anderson, Self: Why would you want to make it harder to enact the will of the people?; Debra Cabell, Self: NO; Carol Poole, Self: NO. What if YOU needed 60% to pass this voter-diminishing idea?; Gary Evans, Self: Suppression of people's voice.; Paula Toffolo, Self: No. We like the citizen initiative process guaranteed to us by the Arizona constitution. The legislature has no justification for interfering with this right; Penny Boone, Self: This bill would create a required super majority that is unrealistic and probably undemocratic. It is an effort to limit moderate & left leaning policies. I oppose!; Margaret Adams, Self: Another bad bill from the very long list of voter suppression bills this session. Please do not pass!; Mary Ellen Cunningham, Self: Let us continue what has worked for Arizona.; Jeffrey Fortney, Self: how about this for GOP legislators? That might improve things here; Carol Kennedy, Self: Another attack to make voter initiatives harder to pass.; Diane Leischow, Self: Please stop trying to diminish the people's ability to establish ballot measures. If you don't believe in democracy, who do you believe in?; Kathleen Dubbs, Self: this is voter suppression; Jana Segal, Self: 60 percent vote to approve any ballot measure! How is that fair? This will just make it harder for citizens to have a say in their government.; Sue Thorne, Self: There are very wealthy, dark money people & corporations in AZ who spend millions on each election to misinform & lie to the voters so that voters either don't vote for initiatives or vote against their own best interests. Stop the lies, Republicans!; Jo Ann Caruthers, Self: Another attempt to weaken our right to initiate, referendum, and recall. It's a right guaranteed by the AZ constitution guys. Leave it alone.; Daniel Stormont, Self: Yet another attempt by the legislature to stifle the power of the people granted under the state Constitution. This anti-democratic bill should be rejected as it is nothing more than a legislative power grab!; Edna Weigel, Self: stop suppressing citizen initiatives; Rebecca Haynes, Self: You want to set a threshold that you do not currently meet? Not a good idea.; Wendy Anderson, Self: Please stop trying to suppress the right of citizens to pass laws through initiatives. If legislators would listen to their constituents and make good public policy that would be a better.; Irwin Sheer, Self: This is another power grab by the legislature. This bill attempts to take power from the voters. Please leave our constitutional rights to place initiatives on the ballot alone.; Jessica Kitterman, Self: Ironically, to put this measure on the ballot, lawmakers only need a simple majority of votes. Let the people's voices be heard and stop requiring more of citizen's initiatives. Oppose; Crystal Bazarnic, Self: Another attempt to shut down citizen initiatives and voters' voices. So sad. Please vote no.; Linda Petersen-Vargas, Self: The AZ constitution has laid out the process for citizen initiatives and the legislature needs to stop trying to encumber this process and stifle the voice of the people.; Nancy Branham, Self: Let's not change a system that works and allows citizens to be involved. We should encourage involvements.; Candice Fremouw, Self: majority rules in a democracy This will undermine the majority of voters; Mary Benin, Self: Our founders believed in direct citizen initiatives. This law raises the bar on that while not raising the bar on legislative votes. Don't disenfranchise voters!; Charlotte Lis, Self: Another attempt to limit citizen participation in our government.; Elizabeth Brauer, Self: Bad bill and unnecessary.; Mary Gaudio, Self: Elections are won by majority vote, meaning more than 50%. STOP with the power grabs.; Don Howard, Self: This bill is an insult to us voters!; Julia Wills, Self: This bill requires a change to our constitution, in which citizens have the right to create initiatives, propositions, etc. No requirement should be added regarding % of votes to pass: the Majority in this state is 50 + 1.; Roy Verdery, Self: Undemocratic bill that would make citizen government, which is an important part of the Arizona constitution, harder. We need more citizen involvement in government to keep professional politicians from running our lives.; Carol Garnett, Self: The legislation proposed by the legislature does not require a 60% vote so ballot measures (legislation by citizens) should not require 60%.; Jennifer Dawson, Self: suppressing voters' wishes.; Rita Day, Self: This is an attack on citizen initiatives. It shouldn't be more difficult for citizens to participate in passing laws. Citizen participation in government, including getting laws passed, is a GOOD THING. VOTER PARTICIPATION IS BETTER THAN APATHY!; Mariann Leahy, Self: Health hazards!; Diane Nevill, Self: This bill is simply another way to stop the public from passing voter initiatives, referendums and constitutional amendments.; Annarose Lilly, Self: Every hear of majority rules, Rep Dunn?; Jean Meconi, Self: Supermajorities have been shown to hamstring government's functioning.; Diane McQueen, Self: Please stop messing with our voting rights and our AZ Constitutional right to bring initiatives to the ballot. btw: I am a registered Arizona voter who lives in AZ and am not a bot.; Erin McCamish, Self: If you really represented the voters you would work to make initiatives easier not harder.; Kathleen Bower, Self: Supermajorities are a terrible idea.; Mary Keerins, Self: Oppose this unnecessary bill; Maureen Mandel, Self: This makes it more difficult for citizens to vote for what they want and need and raises the bar unnecessarily high for initiatives to pass.; Ruth Porter-Tilman, Self: Clean air should be a human right in Arizona.; Cynthia Wagner, Self: Absolutely not. Bad bill.; Laura Terech, Self: This is an attack on citizen initiatives. Ironically, to put this measure on the ballot, lawmakers only need a simple majority of votes.; Deborah Howard, Self: I propose every piece of state legislation must pass with a 60% super majority. If that is unacceptable to you, I ask that you oppose this bill. Voters are capable of discerning what they want to pass. And what do not. No super-majority required.; Nelson Morgan, Self: Majority vote should be sufficient to pass a citizen initiative.; Kelsey Wilkes, Self: Citizen initiatives are in our constitution and should remain as written.; Peggy McMahon, Self: AGAINST; John Frank Branham, Self: This is a terrible bill; John Gleason, Self: STOP legislation against the will of the people; Dana Garcia, Self: Citizen driven initiatives work and don't need more restrictions.; Dan Roskey, Self: This is exactly the type of anti-democratic nonsense that we don't need right now.; Samantha Meier, Self: Unnecessary and anti-democratic. Why is the legislature so determined to strip power from Arizona's voters, including ballot initiatives?; Jennifer Turrell, Self: Nope. This creates too high a bar for citizen initiatives, referendums, and constitutional amendments. Ironically enough, this bill would only require a simple majority to pass and not the 60% it wants to require of ballot measures. I oppose.; Marilyn Bernhardt, Self: Voters have the constitutional right to initiative petitions "as is" and we do not want that right restricted.; Kristin Fray, Self: This is another attack on direct democracy, and limits the ability of the voters to express themselves.; Marjorie Shavlik, Self: Another attempt to curtail public participation in government.; Margaret Tinsley, Self: direct democracy is essential to Arizona; Jan Perozeni Corbus, Self: No change in the Constitution regarding an increased percentage of 60%. Another attempt at limiting the voice of the voters; Sharon Trujillo, Self: LD26 Voter - This is an effort to move the goal line for citizens while retaining the simple majority for lawmakers. This creates an inappropriate advantage for lawmakers at the expense of citizens.; Diana Upp, Self: Crustal organic dust contributes to air contamination and endangers those with breathing problems.; Carissa Sipp, Self: 60% - where did you get that number? Do we need to go back to do the math and understand majority? percentages? the majority votes, the majority should be heard, 50% not 60%; Barbara Nelson, Self: AWFUL; Marilyn Murov, Self: Ironically, to put this measure on the ballot, lawmakers only need a simple majority of votes. this lessens my voice as a voter; Cheryl Purvis, Self: Lawmakers only need a simple majority to put this on the ballot. Why is a larger majority required of the citizens, in whom power is specifically vested by the state constitution?; Kim Hoover, Self: This bill attacks citizens' initiatives & referendums.; Paula Schlusberg, Self: designed only to limit or thwart voters from exercising their constitutional rights; Elizabeth Studstill, Self: Are we a democracy or not? You're just mad citizen initiatives keep winning. Stop trying to take power away from the public.; Theresa Ryan, Self: This bill would cause the Constitution to require 60% of the vote to pass ballot initiatives. This is asking for a Super Majority and should not be passed.; Lisa Yencarelli, Self: Voter initiatives should remain a simple majority.; Virginia Simontacchi, Self: Disrupts the balance of power between the public and the legislature. Requires supermajority of not but not the other.; Teresa Gerschutz, Self: OPPOSE this stupid, unconstitutional bill.; Lisa Maczura, Self: NO.; Jeannine Reno, Self: Just as our elections are won by 50% or greater majority, ballot measures should remain accessible to the wishes of the voters of Arizona.; Elizabeth Craig, Self: This bill upsets the balance of power between citizens and the legislature.; Laurie Nerat, Self: Direct democracy was so important to Arizona's founders that they placed it in our state constitution; we should not be making it harder to exercise that right.; Sandy Bahr, Sierra Club - Grand Canyon Chapter: This would create an unnecessarily high bar for passage of ballot measures.; Bettina Aguilera, Self: Bad bill.

Rivko Knox, Self: I think this is a sensible way to address a situation where the Gov. leaves office in the middle of a term.; Jere Fredenburgh, Self: BUT do not 'add' a salary, take the LT Governor's salary from a position that the state abolishes. In other words, NO MORE $$ for politicians :); Gary Johnson, Self: It's about time we had a lieutenant governor.; Daniel Riordan, Self: Unnecessary.; Marcia Tingley, Self: Waste of money designed only to ensure the same party stays in power should a governor leave office.; kathleen mayer, Self: we have told you many times, we don't want a lt. governor. stop trying to thwart the desires of the voters. your anti-democracy is showing.; Kevin Brown, Self: Just another useless government official; we have enough of those already.; Karen Syversen, Self: We don't need a lieutenant governor.; Brian Bickel, Self: How many times do we need to say no?; Bryna Koch, Self: Oppose this bill.; Bridget Bellavigna, Self: Voters have twice soundly rejected attempts to create a lieutenant governor, in 1994 and 2010. An epic waste of money designed only to ensure the same party stays in power should a governor leave office.; Cathleen Bohnlein, Self: Voters have twice rejected this; Denise van Zijl, Self: Epic waste of money; Barbara Oliver, Self: AZ voters have already rejected creating a lieutenant governor position TWICE. This is an epic waste of money.; Cynthia Correll, Self: This is an unnecessary position and expense; Susan Morris, Self: Guess what? Sometimes, having next in line being from a different party is a good thing! We don't need a lieutenant governor. This has been defeated twice before. Let it go!; Rebecca Olsen McHood, Self: No need to fix what's not broken.; Sharon Gerrard, Self: Waste of money to insure same party stays in power once governor leaves. Voters have said twice they are not interested.; Christa Sadler, Self: Does this have anything to do with the fact that the next in line in AZ is a Democrat? This is a blatant attempt to stack the deck in favor of one party. A lieutenant governor should be from the opposite party. Checks and balances!; Brenda Nelson, Self: Stop trying to change a system that works that voters have rejected twice before. OPPOSE; Jackie Rich, Self: This bill would add an unnecessary additional elected official.; Sarah Fanning, Self: LD17, 85248; Karen Randolph, Self: We don't need to be paying any more state officials when the state doesn't have enough money for services for its citizens. A colossal waste of money!; Stacy Augustine, Self: We rejected this power grab already. Twice. Stop.; Peter Coston, Self: Voters rejected this in 2015, 2018, and 2020.; Lawrence Peters, Self: Gets proposed & shot down every year. Is this an ALEC initiative? WASTE OF PRECIOUS LAWMAKER TIME. Misguided and has no priority for well-being of Arizonans. WHERE IS THE ATTENTION TO COVID RELIEF & NEED TO GET ARIZONANS THE VACCINE!; Linda Edwards, Self: Create bills like you are NOT the one in power. Unintended consequences.; Carole Flores, Self: Voters already rejected this attempt to ensure the next politician in line as governor belongs to the same political party as the governor. An epic waste of money. Please show that politicians believe in integrity and fairness; this makes me wonder; Kimberlee McClure, Self: Arizona voters have already rejected this idea twice, in 1994 and 2010.; Elizabeth McClure, Self: Instead of being sore losers and coming up with an unneeded way of spending taxpayer dollars, how about you look at what we voters keep saying about this idea: NO!!!; Wendy Norton, Self: AGAIN, NO!; Kathleen Kanouse, Self: Unnecessary; Cheryl Colan, Self: Legislators, please get it through your head that AZ citizens don't want this change, having already rejected it in 1994 and 2010. OPPOSED.; Andrew Flach, Self: I like the current system; Penny Boone, Self: Voters have soundly rejected attempts to create a lieutenant governor in 1994 and 2010. This bill is a huge waste of money designed only to ensure the same party stays in power should a governor leave office. I oppose.; William Kelly, Self: We have no need for a do-nothing position of Lieutenant Governor; Anne Leota Hart, Self: A waste of money designed only to ensure the same party stays in power should a governor leave office. This bill has been rejected three times already.; Greer Warren, Self: No. Again,; Carol Kennedy, Self: We do not need a lieutenant governor!; Kathleen Dubbs, Self: this is an unnecessary expenditure of taxpayer money; Sue Thorne, Self: Nutty Becky Nutt! Voters have rejected this idea TWO, that's 2 times!! Republicans would be more popular if they weren't so obsessed with maintaining power for the wealthy at the rest of Arizonan's expense. Try changing your extreme political views; Jo Ann Caruthers, Self: We don't need a lieutenant governor.; Rebecca Haynes, Self: A waste of money designed only to ensure the current party stays in power. No.; Irwin Sheer, Self: Arizona neither needs nor wants a Lieutenant Governor. The Secretary of State is a perfectly adequate successor to the Governor.; John Neville, Self: unnecessary, expensive - why do this?; Jessica Kitterman, Self: An epic waste of money designed only to ensure the same party stays in power should a governor leave office. Oppose; Kirstin Woodburne, Self: Voters have already rejected this in 1994 and 2010.; Cassandra Morano, Self: Voters have already rejected this twice.; Crystal Bazarnic, Self: Voters have twice soundly rejected attempts to create a lieutenant governor, in 1994 and 2010. Please vote no.; Candice Fremouw, Self: voters have twice rejected this It is all about party rule not the will of the voters; Abby Brill, Self: Voters have TWICE killed this bill. Stop trying! Vote NO!; Mary Benin, Self: Leave our system alone. Voters often choose different parties for Gov. and Sec. of State to keep the power more balanced and discourage governors from leaving their positions early.; Mary Gaudio, Self: I lived in TX for 15 years and there is NO reason to have a lieutenant governor, except for party control. Waste of taxpayer dollars. Let elections work the way they are supposed to work. Should this bill pass, will you be happy with 2 Dems in power?; Julia Wills, Self: AZ has done fine without another layer of government. The Sec of State has stepped in at least 2 times in the last 30 years when we had to impeach the governor and it worked out just fine.; Roy Verdery, Self: Unnecessary change to the Arizona Constitution, adding another executive without need. Arizona has done well without a lieutenant governor.; Carol Garnett, Self: Voters have said they don't want this. More money wasted on bureaucrats when the position is not needed or wanted.; Jennifer Dawson, Self: Absolutely not. Voters have rejected this twice already. This would be a massive waste of money, and is an attempt of a governing party to guarantee it stays in power.; Linda Guarino, Self: Voters have already turned down this idea; Rita Day, Self: It is not necessary and would add an unnecessary cost. AZ has operated successfully all these years without an lieutenant governor. We don't need the additional cost. OPPOSE!; Sandra Rizzo, Self: No It governor - an attempt to limit to same party. This is a waste of money; Laura Terech, Self: This isn't necessary as the Secretary of State already serves this function.; Deborah Howard, Self: AZ does not need an additional constitutional officer. 109 years of functional government proves it is unwarranted. Your partisanship is showing...; Nelson Morgan, Self: If it ain't broke, don't "fix" it. The current line of succession is fair.; Erin Turley, Self: Yo - party of smaller government seems to want to make it bigger? Because we need to pay for two governors to eat at Steak 44?; Kelsey Wilkes, Self: Unnecessary expense. (And I see what you're really doing. All Comments:

Jere Fredenburgh, Self: The federal government has become 'all powerful', was never intended by the founders.; Susan Hicks, Self: Yes - states' rights!; Bill Blewster, Self: Keep the Feds out of our elections. VOTE YES!; Christine Maceri Genge, Self: Federal bureaucracy has no business interfering in state elections; Stephen Harris, Self: We are sovereign State and must act like one! Further, the Constitution clearly directs authority over elections to the State Legislatures!; Catherine Kossler, Self: As a Arizona resident, I support the Arizona's constitutional powers over its own elections!; Nikki Colletti, Self: Federalism!!!!; Shannon Sharma, Self: The federal government should not be able to usurp state election laws. This goes against the founding principles that makes up the United States. We must preserve our Constitutional Republic and its founding principles or USA will be no more.; Barbara Wyllie, Self: Keep the FEDS out of Arizona elections. Thanks; Carol Ayotte, Self: States should have the power to manage elections.; Linda Busam, Self: Support HCR2023; Daniel Riordan, Self: Uniformity and access are essential if we are to survive as peaceful nation and not "Balkanize" ourselves.; Marcia Tingley, Self: Federal laws should definitely be allowed to regulate state elections. Campaign finance laws, ethics rules, voting rights, and gerrymandering should all be regulated by the federal government, rather than creating a different laws from state to state; kathleen mayer, Self: jake "election misinformation" hoffman hates people who don't vote the way he thinks they should as evidenced by this bill. this is anti-democratic and shows how afraid R's are of the people.; Rivko Knox, Self: AZ is part of the USA that operates under our Constitution that allows Congress to pass bill that impact on states including AZ, e.g., to expand & protect voting rights!!; Beatriz Urrea, Self: This is yet another attempt to limit our voting rights.; Alisa McMahon, Self: Arizona cannot disregard federal law such as the Voting Rights Act. This bill is a waste of time.; Dianne Post, Self: Violation of separation of powers, local control, home rule and all you claim to stand for.; Sandy Whitley, Self: Resolution that declares opposition to any federal control of elections. There are some aspects of elections that are subject to federal requirements as this is a basic right. We are a part of a nation, have we forgotten that?; Margaret Baca, Self: MORE ANTI-VOTER GARBAGE! Disgraceful!!!; Bryna Koch, Self: Oppose this bill.; Mary Grove, Self: I would hope our AZ elected officials would stand for protecting the voting rights of its citizens. This resolution denies the sometimes necessary oversight of the federal government to ensure that everyone's right to vote is protected.; Barbara Oliver, Self: PLEASE STOP THIS RIDICULOUS RESOLUTION!;

Susan Morris, Self: Voting rights were gutted by the Supreme Court a few years ago, and look what happened? You all have MANY bills started that would curb voting in AZ. If you don't play fair, the feds need to do their job and regulate our elections.; Brenda Nelson, Self: The election system works whether you agree with the outcome of not. STOP trying to suppress our votes, AZGOP. OPPOSE!; Jackie Rich, Self: State cannot cherry pick which federal laws to follow and which ones to ignore.; Sarah Fanning, Self: LD17, 85248; Stacy Augustine, Self: How much do you hate voting rights? Let us count the ways.; Elisabeth Haskell, Self: Does AZ really want to be known as the state that stands for voter suppression, for expanding the role of big money in politics, for protecting partisan gerrymandering & for opposing ethics rules for federal officeholders?; Lynn Ashby, Self: Resolution declares opposition to any federal control of elections. There are some aspects of elections that are subject to federal requirements as this is a basic right. Otherwise state already has control. TRUMP LOST! GET OVER IT!!!; Linda Edwards, Self: Unintended consequences.; Carole Flores, Self: Instead, we should expand voting rights, change campaign finance laws to reduce the influence of money in politics, limit partisan gerrymandering, and create new ethics rules for federal officeholders.; Elizabeth McClure, Self: Experience shows that when an entity opposes oversight/accountability, it's because that entity is hiding something, maybe even doing something illegal. Let's be transparent in our elections and welcome federal oversight/regulation.; Cheryl Colan, Self: Opposed. Perhaps you can go do something good and binding with your time instead of waste time on this.; Andrew Flach, Self: Enough with trying to restrict voting; Ryan Anderson, Self: Federal action to regulate elections is a good thing, especially if the state fails to protect voting rights itself.; Carol Poole, Self: The federal regulation in these cases is most welcome, especially here in Arizona where we, as a general whole, are not encouraging voting.; Penny Boone, Self: This bill is a preemptive attack on HR1 which would expand voting rights, change campaign finance laws to reduce the influence of money in politics, limit partisan gerrymandering, and create new ethics rules for federal officeholders. I oppose!; Anne Leota Hart, Self: This extreme resolution is completely unnecessary and a waste of time.; Margaret Adams, Self: Another bad bill from the very long list of voter suppression bills this session. Please do not pass!; Greer Warren, Self: Absolutely not.; Kathleen Dubbs, Self: It is time elections in this country were standardized; Sue Thorne, Self: This House Resolution by halfwit Hoffman would ban reasonable provisions of federal bill HR1 which will create new ethics guidelines for elections that limit gerrymandering and dark money election of Repub. extremists. Hoffman loves voter suppression; Rich Feely, Self: Instead of a non-binding resolutions, stop introducing bills like HB2811 and the federal government won't enact special provisions.; Roxanna Kearns, Self: This non-binding resolution opposing federal action to regulate state elections should not be passed. Expanding voter rights and creation of new ethics rules for federal office holders should occur. There are too many examples of unethical behavior.; Edna Weigel, Self: stop voter suppression!; Rebecca Haynes, Self: Voters want a reduction of the influence of money in politics, not an increase.; Wendy Anderson, Self: Sorry but the Federal gov can determine election laws especially when a state legislature seeks to suppress voting rights.; Irwin Sheer, Self: Why would you oppose federal action to regulate state elections? Such actions could only help to restore confidence that may have been lost due to unfounded acquisitions and conspiracy theories.; Laura Huenneke, Self: Democratic election processes are the foundation of our constitutional rights as Americans and some reasonable consistency across states is part of defining our nation. This bill would put Arizona outside the bounds of US democracy.; Kirstin Woodburne, Self: I vehemently oppose any bill that attempts to suppress voting in Arizona!; Candice Fremouw, Self: almost laughable except that Rep Hoffman is serious?; Gloria Montano, LEAGUE OF CONSERVATION VOTERS, INC: We should be working to strengthen voter engagement and access and election security and technology. Not undermining work towards improvements; Mary Benin, Self: If the Fed's mandate changes such as a change in campaign finance laws, we should follow suit or it will end up costing us money in court to defend our non-compliance.; Charlotte Lis, Self: Voting rights act is long overdue. If it infringes on your voter suppression laws then they need to be introversion.; Mary Gaudio, Self: Afraid you'll lose your power to suppress votes?; Julia Wills, Self: This is exactly why AZ had to be included in the last Voting Rights Act. I was embarrassed to find out this state was included with the Southern states who had historical voter suppression.;

Roy Verdery, Self: Federal regulations would increase uniformity and fairness in Federal elections.; Carol Garnett, Self: Since many legislators believe Arizona votes should not have counted in the just prior election and because you feel it was so badly run, the federal government needs to get involved in making sure this does not happen again.; Jennifer Dawson, Self: The feds are needed, because many states refuse to decently and ethically regulate themselves.; Rita Day, Self: Expanding voting rights, reducing the influence of money in politics, limiting gerrymandering, and creating new ethics rules are all positive things. I oppose this bill which opposes such action at the state level.; James Stein, Self: There are some aspects of elections that are subject to federal requirements as this is a basic right.; Diane Nevill, Self: This non-binding regulation opposing federal action to regulate state elections is a bad idea. It is trying to subvert expanding voting rights, limit partisan gerrymandering, improving campaign finance laws and more.; Amy Gaiennie, Self: We need to encourage and support voter registration and voting, not make it more difficult. This is a right and responsibility of every eligible citizen in a democracy.; Jean Meconi, Self: There are some universal voting rights that should be protected at the federal level.; Diane McQueen, Self: Stop, stop, stop with the voter suppression bills already. btw: I am a registered Arizona voter who lives in AZ and am not a bot.; Erin McCamish, Self: We are a part of a nation and must abide by its rules.; Mary Keerins, Self: More voter suppression is anti-American; Maureen Mandel, Self: Too many states already try to suppress voters' rights so the Federal government action is correct and necessary to protect voters' rights.; Laura Terech, Self: I disagree with this bill, I'm concerned it would curtail HR1 and the John Lewis Voting Rights Act.; Deborah Howard, Self: Know what? AZ must comply with federal voting laws. AZ does not get to "opt-out" of the voting rights act. Or any federal mandates. It's called federalism. Federalism is our friend. It helps create a united nation. Please vote no on this bill.; Peggy McMahon, Self: AGAINST voter suppression. AGAINST; John Gleason, Self: Follow the law!!! Passing laws that encourage lawlessness is a pretty bad idea; William Hamilton, Self: Really a stupid resolution. Any such actions will simply trigger litigation with AZ in a sure-lose position. In State v US, SCOTUS has clearly ruled that the US supercedes the State. This bill is frivolous and continues Hoffman's voter suppression; Samantha Meier, Self: Wow. Seriously? Why is Rep. Hoffman so dead-set on trying to influence Arizona's elections by limiting voting rights and trying to escape federal oversight to ensure free and fair elections?; Margaret Tinsley, Self: no; Cheryl Purvis, Self: No! We vote for federal officers for a reason.; Elizabeth Studstill, Self: Stop trying to make it harder for people to vote.; Theresa Ryan, Self: This bill opposes federal action to regulate state elections. It would decrease voting rights, reduce campaign finance laws, and decrease new ethics rules.; Bridget Bellavigna, Self: HR 1 is important and will stop the likes of people like you wanting to take our vote.; Laurie Nerat, Self: States have NO jurisdiction over the federal government, this is a colossal waste of time and we have much more pressing issues to deal with!; Jeanne Devine, Self: Az had the cleanest elections ever. This is an attempt to repress elections. Please vote NO.; Vanessa Goldberg, Self: Here he goes again, Jake the enemy of the voters!; Bettina Aguilera, Self: Sadly GOP needs MORE federal oversight. OPPOSE.

All Comments:

Bill Blewster, Self: Follow the Constitution. Keep Washington D.C. a district; not a state. VOTE YES!; Gloria Montano, Self: We must give representation to DC Residents that pay more taxes. 1/6 showed us that local rule is more important than ever.; Randy Brown, Self: The founders intentionally setup the federal government OUTSIDE the boundaries of any state. If DC "residents" want to vote then they should choose to live in a STATE. Not DC. They MADE this choice, they were not FORCED there.; Sydney Brown, Self: The U.S. Constitution should be amended in a proper manner rather than ignored with legislation in violation of the Constitution.; Joan Murphy, Self: The large population of D.C. deserve the right of statehood and representation!; Daniel Riordan, Self: No taxation without representation? They pay their taxes also and are more populous than three states.; Marcia Tingley, Self: D.C. should definitely become a state. Its citizens are subject to serious taxation without representation. Denying DC statehood denies equal suffrage to 700,000 Americans who live there.; kathleen mayer, Self: afraid of losing their gerrymandered advantage, they are in favor of the continued disenfranchisement of over 700K voters who live in D.C. An obvious reflection of their desire to hold on to power at the expense of citizens of this country.; Rivko Knox, Self: The compromise that created D.C. & kept it from being a state does NOT reflect the current USA!!! D.C. residents deserve the right to vote & should become a state.; Peter Bengtson, Self: Arizona and the other states have representation in congress. You shouldn't be opposing the same right for the District of Columbia!; Robert McCormick, Self: This is taxation without representation. DC statehood would leave a smaller federal district, thus in compliance with the U.S. Constitution. More people live in DC than in 3 states. Unfair!; Alicia Klassen, Self: This is unnecessary.; Peggy Chaikin, Self: The cites of DC deserve state hood!; Erin Goodman, Self: This resolution urges Congress to oppose DC statehood on the grounds that it violates the US Constitution. This is false.; Beatriz Urrea, Self: The arguments against DC statehood are partisan and racially coded.; Alisa McMahon, Self: The Arizona legislature should concentrate on this state's problems. D.C. statehood is not our business.; Karen Syversen, Self: DC needs statehood!; Susan Bickel, Self: I support DC Statehood, not denying it.; Elizabeth Putnam-Hidalgo, Self: I support DC statehood. What does the Az legislature have to say about it anyway? 700,000 Americans should be given their constitutional voting rights.; Sandy Whitley, Self: This is actually pretty funny. 2035 states the Legislature's "zealous" opposition to statehood for DC. Apparently the legislators who signed on to this believe in taxation without representation, this in AZ that abhors taxation. Ok to tax DC without; Jenise Porter, Self: For a large number of voters who live in Washington DC to be disenfranchised is profoundly undemocratic. And for legislators in another state to weigh in on the rights of voters in DC is unacceptable.; Bryna Koch, Self: Oppose this bill. Symbolic and unnecessary.; Bridget Bellavigna, Self: Those against DC statehood would rather continue to deny equal suffrage to 700,000 Americans than cede their electoral power. I also favor statehood for Puerto Rico; Barbara Oliver, Self: CONFERRING STATEHOOD ON WASHINGTON DC MAKES SENSE. ITS

CITIZENS HAVE LAWS WITHOUT REPRESENTATION. MORE PEOPLE LIVE IN DC THAN IN WYOMING, VERMONT OR NORTH DAKOTA. THEY DESERVE REPRESENTATION, AND WHAT'S MORE, IT IS NOT UNCONSTITUTIONAL.; Cynthia Correll, Self: DC deserves statehood just as AZ did; Susan Morris, Self: DC has been without voting members in Congress for far too long. . .; Sharon Gerrard, Self: Arguments against DC statehood are partisan and racist and disenfranchise 700,000 people.; Christa Sadler, Self: DC should be a state! They pay taxes but have no representatives in Congress—"taxation without representation!" They deserve a greater say in how they are governed. You just don't want them to be a state because they are overwhelmingly democrat.; Brenda Nelson, Self: Granting DC statehood is common sense while this bill is not. OPPOSE; Louise Good, Self: People who live in DC should have the same voting rights as the rest of us.; Jackie Rich, Self: This resolution is based on a misunderstanding of the issues surrounding DC statehood.; Sarah Fanning, Self: LD17, 85248; Stacy Augustine, Self: This is purely embarrassing, reflecting a lack of knowledge regarding what the state of DC would be. Let's be honest — it's all about a power grab for the party which is, in truth, the national minority.; Lawrence Peters, Self: US Constitution does require an independent "federal district." More people live in DC than in WY, VT, ND. WASTE OF PRECIOUS LAWMAKER TIME. HAS NOTHING TO DO WITH LIFE IN AZ!!! WHERE IS THE ATTN ON COVID RELIEF & NEED TO GET THE VACCINE INTO AZ?; Elisabeth Haskell, Self: Proposals for Washington DC statehood uphold the Constitution's requirement for an independent federal district by shrinking it to the White House, Congress, the National Mall & some federal buildings, while providing representation to DC's citizens.; Lynn Ashby, Self: States GOP legislators' "zealous" opposition to statehood for DC. Apparently Republican legislators believe in taxation without representation and would have sided with Britain against Washington and the Colonists. Explains GOP support of Trump...; Linda Edwards, Self: Don't all citizens have a right to representation? Do they not pay taxes?; Kathy Fraser, Self: It's not the Arizona legislatures decision whether or not DC should be a state, it is up to the citizens who live there. This is just an attempt by Representative Blackman to disenfranchise people who he thinks would vote in a way he wouldn't like.; Carole Flores, Self: More people live in DC than in Wyoming, Vermont or North Dakota. Those against DC statehood would rather continue to deny equal suffrage to 700,000 Americans than cede their electoral power.; Sarah Seaver, Self: More US citizens live in D.C. than in the states of Wyoming, Vermont or N. Dakota. "Come on man" give them proper statehood and all benefits that entails.; Elizabeth McClure, Self: DC statehood is none of Arizona's business. Or do you want California, for example, dictating what AZ can and cannot do? Enough said.; Cheryl Colan, Self: Strongly oppose.; Andrew Flach, Self: DC should be a state; Ryan Anderson, Self: DC statehood is perfectly legal. Why should North Dakota, Wyoming, and Vermont be states but not DC, when DC has a larger population? Also, this is a federal question, not an AZ question.; Susan Anderson, Self: A rallying cry in the Revolutionary War was "No taxation without representation. Yet it's 2021 and we deny citizens of DC a voice in the legislature. SHAMEFUL; Lynne Brasher, Self: taxation without representation - this isn't our business and they deserve as many rights as we have; Penny Boone, Self: The arguments against DC statehood are partisan and racially coded. They are also a back door attempt to maintain power by right wing partisans. I support DC statehood. I deeply oppose this bill.; Anne Leota Hart, Self: Do your homework! DC statehood does NOT violate the US Constitution. The Constitution requires an independent "federal district," and the DC statehood bill would shrink that to the White House, Congress, the National Mall and some office buildings.; Margaret Adams , Self: Why is Arizona involved in this? Not for states--this is a federal matter.; Carolyn Pommier, Self: The people who live in DC are taxed without representation. They deserve a voice.; Jeffrey Fortney, Self: what business is this of AZ legislators????; Frank Copple, Self: What nonsense!!!; Carol Kennedy, Self: The citizens in DC should be represented as a state and have the same rights as we do in Arizona.; Kathleen Dubbs, Self: It is way beyond time the people of Washington D.C. had the vote; Sue Thorne, Self: Statehood for the 700,000 disenfranchised voters surrounding the White House, Congress and National Mall is not unconstitutional. There is already a federal law that mandates the above 3 places be independent. Republicans love to suppress votes. NO; Gail Prestera, Self: DC deserves representation.; Roxanna Kearns, Self: Do NOT oppose DC statehood.; William S. James, Self: Stay out of things that are not about AZ; Edna Weigel, Self: Don't deny representation in DC; Candace Wilkinson, Self: Citizens

living in Washington DC deserve to be represented as much as any other American citizen. Please DO NOT PASS this bill; Rebecca Haynes, Self: Time to give suffrage to the 700,000 currently disenfranchised voters in D.C.; Wendy Anderson, Self: I'd rather see a resolution urging congress to over turn Citizens United and get big money out of politics; Irwin Sheer, Self: More people live in DC than in Wyoming, Vermont or North Dakota. Claims that this bill violates the US Constitution are inaccurate.; John Neville, Self: This is stupid. How did Arizona become a state?; Jessica Kitterman, Self: The Constitution does require an independent "federal district," but the DC statehood bill would shrink that required district to the White House, Congress, the National Mall, and some federal buildings, not where people live. Oppose; Kirstin Woodburne, Self: Citizens of DC should have representation.; Crystal Bazarnic, Self: This is between the federal govt and the citizens of DC. Arizona should not have a position on this either way. Please vote no.; Gary Knopp, Self: No; Rebecca Ong, Self: Statehood for DC wouldn't violate the Constitution. The parts of DC where people live would become a state. The White House, Capitol Hill, the National Mall, and federal buildings would be the independent "federal district."; Kathryn Anderson, Self: The American citizens living in DC deserve to have the same representation in our Congress as any other American citizen. It's time to make Washington, DC a state!; Mary Benin, Self: Opposition to DC statehood is unfair. There are more people in DC than in Wyoming, Vermont or North Dakota. Voting against statehood is denying equal representation to 700,00 people. Arizona should not recommend denying statehood to DC.; Charlotte Lis, Self: Not against the constitution.; Margaret Bruns, Self: Bill is based on partisanship and racism; Mary Gaudio, Self: D.C. statehood is NOT unconstitutional. 700,000 Americans live in D.C. They have the right to statehood/representation.; Nancy Norton, Self: This is a necessity.; Dee Maitland, Self: This is not your business.; Julia Wills, Self: Well, some state could have done this to us in 1912, when AZ became a state. This is a frivolous bill wasting the legislatures time & our tax dollars!; Roy Verdery, Self: Citizens living in DC should have their own state.; Carol Garnett, Self: DC deserves to be a state and be represented. A federal district can be established. Since they were not a state on Jan. 6, they were unable to call in the National Guard to protect them.; Jennifer Dawson, Self: 700K people live in D.C., and deserve the right to vote. To prevent that is partisan and racist. And no, it does NOT violate the Constitution.; Rita Day, Self: The arguments against DC statehood are partisan and racially motivated. More people live in DC than in Wyoming, Vermont, or North Dakota. These citizens in DC should have a voice like all of us. DC should be a state, so it's citizens have a voice!; Sandra Rizzo, Self: I disagree with this opposition. I want to see Washington DC declared a state. It's only fair to the people who live there!; Leda DeVlieger, Self: Washington DC should absolutely be granted statehood. They have more people than several states and should be fully represented in our government structure.; Margaret Lacey, Self: No. No. No. We need to welcome our fellow Americans into the country after years of taxation without representation. More people live in DC than in three other states! Let's be fair.; James Stein, Self: Apparently the legislators who signed on to this believe in taxation without representation.; David Williams, Self: antidemocratic, unamerican; Linda Block, Self: DC should become the 51st state. Residents need representation.; Diane Nevill, Self: There would still be an independent federal district, but the people who live and work in Washington. D.C. deserve statehood and equal suffrage.; Annarose Lilly, Self: Ever hear of "No Taxation Without Representation" Rep Blackman? Disenfranchise people of color much?; Jean Meconi, Self: More people live in DC than in Wyoming, Vermont or North Dakota. DC statehood does not violate the constitution.; Diane McQueen, Self: btw: I am a registered Arizona voter who lives in AZ and am not a bot.; Erin McCamish, Self: DC deserves to be represented and if you disagree it's because you're afraid the people who live there will vote differently than you.; Kathleen Bower, Self: We wouldn't want 700,000 citizens to have statehood?; Mary Evangeliste, Self: Arizona has no say in whether DC becomes a state.; Mary Keerins, Self: More people live in DC than in Wyoming, Vermont or North Dakota. They deserve statehood.; Maureen Mandel, Self: It is not right or needed for Arizona politicians to pass a resolution to oppose DC statehood as that decision is up to the Federal officials to decide. To oppose DC statehood seems to be about trying to maintain political power only.; Ruth Porter-Tilman, Self: Citizens who are taxed should have voting representatives in Congress. It's White Nationalism, and yes Rep Blackman supports White Supremacy in policy.; Susan Nee, Self:

More people live in DC than in Wyoming, Vermont or North Dakota. Those against DC statehood would rather continue to deny equal suffrage to 700,000 Americans than cede their electoral power.; Cynthia Wagner, Self: DC should be granted statehood.; Laura Terech, Self: The arguments against DC statehood are partisan and racially coded. More people live in DC than in Wyoming, Vermont or North Dakota. They deserve representation.; Deborah Howard, Self: More than 700,000 call Washington D.C home. They send their children to DC schools. they participate in community events. Yet they have no voting representation in Congress. Even though their population is greater than the states of WY, VT, and ND.; Nigel Taplin, Self: All US citizens should have the right to vote.; Nelson Morgan, Self: Currently DC lacks representation, though they pay taxes; Constitution permits a much smaller Federal grounds, many residents not appropriately represented in Congress. DC should be a state.; Kenneth Muir, Self: Why shouldn't all Americans have representation, especially when they are tax payers like every other citizen of every other state? To me this feels like a mostly white southwestern state overreaching into the rights of a mostly black eastern state.; Kelsey Wilkes, Self: DC has a larger population than 7 States. A 51st is a great thing!; Julianne Hurst, Self: Who would oppose equal suffrage to more people than in WY, VT or ND? Do you even understand the issue? Statehood would exclude certain buildings, so it does not violate the constitution. Maybe you should educate yourself on the issue.; Peggy Kile, Self: This is racist.; Peggy McMahon, Self: AGAINST. Another overt suppression unconstitutional bill. Stop!!! AGAINST; John Gleason, Self: oh my, oh, my this bill wins the prize for most racist and most useless bill if the session. Please kill this bill and get to some real work; Gary Townsend, Self: All citizens must have equal representation.; William Hamilton, Self: Our Founding Father's fought for "No taxation without representation." US citizens of DC deserve that hard fought right. This is clearly a racist and anti-democratic Republican attempt to prevent the vote of populations unlikely to vote Republican.; Dana Garcia, Self: More over-reach by the AZ legislature.; Mary Lou Moore, Self: Just opposite we need to support DC Statehood; Samantha Meier, Self: Completely bogus and ill-informed.; Jennifer Turrell, Self: More people live in DC than Wyoming, Vermont, or North Dakota. Those people deserve representation. The Federal zone can be shrunk to the government buildings in which governing takes place. I very strongly oppose this bill.; Shelley Haiken, Self: DC deserves statehood just as Arizona deserved statehood 100 years ago.; Stephen Kelsey, Self: DC has a larger population than Wyoming, Vermont, or North Dakota. Be fair; Kristin Fray, Self: This is a federal issue, not a state issue. And currently, there are more people living in DC than in Wyoming, Vermont, or North Dakota. They deserve representation.; Margaret Tinsley, Self: wrong; Jan Perozeni Corbus, Self: DC statehood does not violate the Constitution. Ridiculous non-binding resolution.; Sharon Trujillo, Self: LD26 Voter - Arizona has no right to argue for the disenfranchisement of citizens anywhere, much less in an area so geographically distant from Arizona itself.; LISA Hillery-Smith, Self: the arguments against DC statehood are partisan and racially coded. More people live in DC than in Wyoming, Vermont or North Dakota. Those against DC statehood would continue to deny equal suffrage to 700,000 Americans than cede their electoral power.; Dan Schwartzstein, Self: Arizona should not be in the business of the continued disenfranchisement of almost a million Americans.; Neal Williams, Self: Allow equal voting rights to over 2/3 of a million Americans! What seems to be the problem here? They pay taxes, they should be voting.; Cheryl Purvis, Self: It's far past time to give the citizens of D.C. a voice in their own government.; Kim Hoover, Self: The citizens in DC deserve representation and the right to vote in DC. This bill is voter suppression.; Julian Donahue, Self: The contention that DC statehood would violate the US Constitution is false.; Elizabeth Studstill, Self: Shockingly, people live in DC.; Theresa Ryan, Self: This bill opposes DC statehood and states that it violates the Constitution, which is false. The required federal district could be shrunk down to the White House, Congress & the National Mall. The people in DC should have the right to vote.; Teresa Gerschutz, Self: My family and friends who live in DC and own homes want representation. They too pay taxes and send their husbands, daughters and sons to war...DC needs to become a state.; Helen Abrahamson, Self: The citizens of DC deserve the same representation as all US citizens.; Lisa Maczura, Self: I support making DC a state.; Gary Stewart, Self: DC residents deserve representation in Congress; Laurie Nerat, Self: States have NO jurisdiction over the federal government, this is a colossal waste of time and we have much more pressing issues to deal with!; Hans Buhner,

Please vote not on this bill.; Vanessa Goldberg, Self: A WTRONG reading of the Constitution!; Darrell Hill, AMERICAN CIVIL LIBERTIES UNION OF AZ (ACLU-AZ): DC residents deserve representation.; Bettina Aguilera, Self: Excluding the federal infrastructure, the people of DC deserve representation. Sponsor: Representative Toma, LD 22

Committee on Government & Elections

Overview

Expresses the formal application of the Arizona Legislature to the United States (U.S.) Congress for an Article V convention.

History

Article V of the U.S. Constitution authorizes the states to propose amendments to the Constitution provided certain requirements are followed. In order to amend the U.S. Constitution, two-thirds of the several state legislatures must submit an application and call a convention for proposing amendments. These amendments then shall be valid to all intents and purposes as part of the Constitution.

Provisions

1. States that the Arizona Legislature formally applies to the U.S. Congress to call a convention to propose an amendment to the U.S. Constitution to set a limit on the number of terms a person may be elected as a member of the U.S. House of Representatives and Senate.
2. Directs the Secretary of State to transmit copies of this resolution to the following people requesting their cooperation:
 - a) President of the U.S. Senate;
 - b) Speaker of the U.S. House of Representatives;
 - c) Secretary of the U.S. Senate;
 - d) Clerk of the U.S. House of Representatives;
 - e) Chairperson of the House Committee on Judiciary;
 - f) Each member of Congress from Arizona; and
 - g) The presiding officer of each legislative house in each state.
3. Stipulates that this application is considered as covering the same subject matter as the applications from other states to call a convention to set term limits for a person elected to the U.S. House of Representatives and Senate.
4. Instructs this application to be aggregated with the other state applications for the purpose of attaining the two-thirds of states necessary to require Congress to call a limited convention for the purpose of setting term limits for members of Congress.
5. Prohibits this application from being aggregated with any other application on any other subject.
6. Specifies that this application constitutes a continuing application in accordance with Article V of the U.S. Constitution until the legislatures of at least two-thirds of the states have made the same application.

4. Stipulates that a violation of the prohibited acts is subject to enforcement by a compliance order or other relief prescribed by statute. (Sec. 1)
5. Mandates that the SOS provide for cross-referencing and public posting of the written conflict of interest consents from lobbyists, designated public lobbyists and authorized public lobbyists. (Sec. 2)
6. Makes technical and conforming changes. (Sec. 2)

HB 2455: fire districts; pension liability; financing.

Sponsor: Representative Cobb, LD 5

Committee on Government & Elections

Overview

Allows a fire district to lease, lease-purchase or grant a lien on any or all of its present or future property to pay amounts to the Public Safety Personnel Retirement System (PSPRS), pension prefunding plan investment accounts (pension accounts) and the Arizona employers' pension prefunding plan (AEPP Plan) and create reserves to supplement payments as deemed necessary by the fire district board.

History

Fire District Boards

Fire districts are governed by three-member or five-member district boards, depending on the population of the fire district. If a vacancy occurs on the fire district board for any reason other than expiration of a term, a quorum of the remaining board must fill the vacancy by appointment of an interim member (A.R.S. § 48-803).

Fire districts boards are permitted to employ any personnel and provide services deemed necessary for fire protection, for preservation of life and for carrying out its other powers and duties, including providing ambulance transportation services when authorized to do so pursuant to statute. Additionally, they may construct, purchase, lease, lease-purchase or otherwise acquire apparatus, water and rescue equipment or land, buildings, equipment and furnishings to house equipment and personnel necessary or appropriate to carry out its purposes. These boards are also allowed to enforce, amend and revise the fire code of the district, contract with a city or town for fire protection services and procure the services of an organized private fire company or department of a neighboring city, town, district or settlement (A.R.S. § 48-805).

Pension Accounts

Laws 2020, Chapter 79 authorizes the State Treasurer to invest and reinvest pension prefunding plan monies in equity securities for pension prefunding plan investment accounts. These monies are for the purposes of allowing employers that provide a defined benefit pension plan (DBP Plan) to their employees to prefund the employer's required defined benefit pension payments. DBP Plans are provided through PSPRS, Arizona State Retirement System, Elected Officials' Retirement Plan, Corrections Officer Retirement Plan and any other governing body of a political subdivision that has established a DBP Plan. The State Board of Investment serves as trustees of any pension prefunding plan investment account (A.R.S. § 35-314.04).

AEPP Plan

Current law establishes the AEPP Plan which allows participating employers that provide a DBP Plan to their employees to prefund the employer's required pension contributions. The PSRPS Board has the sole and exclusive control of the administration and investment of the AEPP Plan (A.R.S. §§ 38-932 and 38-933).

Provisions

1. Permits a fire district board to lease, lease-purchase or grant a lien on any or all of its present or future property to pay amounts to PSPRS, pension accounts and the AEPP Plan and to create reserves to supplement such payments as deemed necessary by the board. (Sec. 2)

HB 2308: recall petitions and elections; revisions

Sponsor: Representative Kavanagh, LD 23

Committee on Government & Elections

Overview

Modifies the requirements for recall petitions and elections.

History

A public officer holding an elective office by election, appointment or retention is subject to a recall from that office by the qualified electors from the election district where the candidates for that office receive their votes. A number of qualified electors equivalent to 25% of the total number of votes for the office in the last preceding general election may demand, through a petition, the public officer's recall.

An individual or organization that intends to file a petition must submit an application to the filing officer before circulating the petition to be signed. The application and recall petition must go to the Secretary of State if the recall is for a state officer and statute describes who will receive the application and petition for recalls of other public offices. Current statute describes the requirements of what information must be on the application and the recall petition and what form the recall petitions and their applications must be in. Statute also outlines the procedures and restrictions circulators must follow when obtaining signatures for recall petitions (A.R.S. §§ 19-201, 19-202.01, 19-203, 19-204).

Provisions

3. Requires the Secretary of State to do the following:
 - a) Establish a procedure for registering circulators, including circulator registration applications, in the Instructions and Procedures Manual; and
 - b) Publish all information regarding statutory requirements for circulators on a website that is maintained by the Secretary of State. (Sec. 8)
4. Stipulates that the filing officer must disqualify all signatures collected by a circulator who has failed to register. (Sec. 8)
5. Prescribes the following required information for the circulator registration application:
 - a) The full name, residence address, telephone number and email address of the circulator;
 - b) The recall petition the circulator will gather signatures for;
 - c) A statement that the circulator consents to the jurisdiction of the courts of this state;
 - d) The address of the committee in this state that the circulator is gathering signatures for and where they will receive service of process related to circulator petition disputes; and

- e) An affidavit that includes a specified statement that is signed by the circulator before a notary public. (Sec. 8)
- 6. Directs the Secretary of State to register and assign a circulator registration number to the circulator within five business days after submission and review of a correct and complete circulator registration application. (Sec. 8)
- 7. Prohibits a person from registering as a circulator if the person:
 - a) Has had a civil or criminal penalty imposed for elections violations within the preceding five years;
 - b) Has been convicted of treason or a felony and has not had their civil rights restored; or
 - c) Has been convicted of a criminal offense involving forgery, fraud or identity theft. (Sec. 8)
- 8. Specifies that all signatures are deemed invalid if a registered circulator is properly served with a subpoena and fails to appear or produce documents as provided in the subpoena. (Sec. 8)
- 9. Allows the party serving the subpoena to request an order from the court directing the filing officer to remove any signatures collected by the circulator. (Sec. 8)
- 10. Authorizes any person to challenge the lawful registration of circulators in the superior court in the county where the circulator is registered and directs the court to advance these actions on the calendar and decide on them as soon as possible. (Sec. 8)
- 11. Prohibits a challenge from being started more than 10 business days after the filing officer has received, processed and made available all final petition sheets individually numbered. (Sec. 8)
- 12. Provides the person challenging signatures the ability to amend their complaint after the filing officer has removed signatures and signature sheets. (Sec. 8)
- 13. Allows either party to appeal within five calendar days after entry of judgment. (Sec. 8)
- 14. Entitles the prevailing party to reasonable attorney fees in an action to challenge the registration of a circulator. (Sec. 8)
- 15. States that a person is guilty of a class 1 misdemeanor if they knowingly omit or misrepresent information or provide false information on a circulator registration application. (Sec. 8)

Withdrawal of Signature

- 16. Adds a petition for recall that a person can withdraw their signature from within a time period prescribed in statute. (Sec. 1)
- 17. Permits a person to withdraw their signature from a petition no later than 5:00 p.m. on the date the petition containing their signature is submitted for verification. (Sec. 8)

HB 2792: early ballots; request required
Sponsor: Representative Hoffman, LD 12
Committee on Government & Elections

Overview

Specifies that a county recorder or other election officer may not deliver or mail an early ballot to a person who has not requested an early ballot for that election.

History

Within 93 days before any election, an elector is authorized to make a signed or verbal request to the county recorder or other officer in charge of elections for an official early ballot. If the request indicates that the elector needs a general and primary election ballot, the county recorder or other officer in charge of elections must honor that request. For a partisan primary election, the elector must designate the ballot of only one of the political parties and receive and vote the ballot of only that one political party, if the elector is not registered as a member of a political party that is entitled to continuous representation on the ballot (A.R.S. § 16-542).

Provisions

1. Prohibits a city or town clerk, county recorder or other election officer from delivering or mailing an early ballot to a person who has not requested an early ballot for that election. (Sec. 1)
2. Exempts a voter who is on the permanent early voting list or for an all-mail ballot city or school district election or certain special district mail ballot elections. (Sec. 1)
3. Stipulates that an election officer who violates this section of statute is guilty of a class 5 felony. (Sec. 1)
4. Makes technical changes. (Sec. 1)

 - ii. For a three-member board, the candidate with the highest number of votes is elected. (Sec. 1)
4. States that a person is not eligible to serve more than two consecutive terms on a board unless there is an insufficient number of candidates to fill vacancies then the county school superintendent is allowed to appoint a board member to serve until the next election even if they have served two consecutive terms.
